hot that he nearly melted diamonds off his shirt Even the genial Uncle John Bryson was registering a royal kick about it at 11 o'clock this morning, but these are nothing to the fine vocal effects that are going into the soot-speckled atmosphere hereabouts because somebody wants to make a pot of money out of the Bourbon powwow. SOME WEATHER EFFECTS.

Uncle Jerry Rusk got in some weather effects at noon, just as the mob was melting and sweltering its way into the big pine shed on the lake front and scared a few people out of a year's growth. The thunder got right up over the roof and hammered away at a deafening rate. The whole country turned so dark that the galleries and the speaker's desk could not see each other and the rain beat a regular devil's tattoo on the improvised umbrella that drowned the noise of the band. Everybody felt more or less nervous about the ramshackle shed and when the limpid showers began to pour through the ventilators, thus starting pede for dry quarters, it nearly precipi-who could not understand what the ommotion was all about.

A DEARTH OF CHEERING

The extreme quietness with which the presumably great men of the Democracy slid into their seats was in marked contrast with the warm re ception given the Republican leaders at Minneapolis as they came into the hall day after day. As a matter of fact

CLEVELAND'S SWIRLING BOOM.

Meanwhile the Cleveland boom goes on like a regular tornado. It swoops and swirls and eddles from Michigan avenue to the city limits and there is not a street in the whole blooming burg that has not somewhere on it a Cleveland howler with a voice like a menagerie of protoplasmic freaks. The poor Tammanyites have been utterly howled down the wind. They stand around and noter feeble protests against the nomination, which they concede to be inevitable, and tonight one of them stood in a hallway of the Auditorium reading aloud a telegram from somebody in York State declaring that Cleveland could not possibly carry the State, but that Hill was the bewitching cuss who could save the Republic; yet out of the ordinary herd. There is a dead level in this convention, as it appears to me, hence there was nobody of any consequence worth cheering. Gov. Campbell of Ohio received a weak round of hand clapping and cat calls, but unless he is singed cat they were all he deserved. He looks like a weak sister. Michigan sent a big fellow down the aisle with a gilt and white standard in order to stir up a yell, and succeeded, but the proceedings were quiet and orderly until Cable of Illinois introduced the resolution of sympathy for Blaine, when there was a demonstration that resem blid in some measure the great forty minute whoop for the Maine statesman

at the Falls of St. Anthony. There was not the ghost of a fight over Brother Owens of Kentucky being chairman for the time being, and so he got into the arena and made a speech that was good principally because it was short. Owens had a good voice and censiderable savey, apparently, about handling a mob of Democrats, and so he will make a good hand for the job before him. Steve White's motion was so plainly heard that even the old man "Louder" in the gallery never uttered a single request for more voice, but our Steve was the only speaker of the day that had the fortunate experience.

The tedium of the roll call for appointnent on the various committees was so dense and murky that the audience had mostly got out of the doors ere it was half through, and judging from the way the delegates fanned and perspired

A BATTLE OF BANNERS.

There was a battle of the barmers all the afternoon at the Palmer House, which, but for a big force of police, would have probably developed into a lively scrap. The Boies men were having a quiet little lovefeast of speeches and banner waiving about 5 clock, when a gang of shouters for the mugwumps got their voices into shape and proceeded to outyell the men who dote on the Governor of Iowa. They hoisted a Cleveland picture on a pole and shoved it into the faces of the Boies crowd who were ensconced on a balcony above the chotel office, which led to a vigorous ripping up of Cleveland pictures and the advancement of the dogtype of Mr. Boies to the front and center. Then the Cleveland crowd drew off, but returned a few moments later with more poles and pictures. A crazy boomer mounted the marble steps and planted the banner of the York State phenom in the face of Iowa's brave sons, the crowd meanwhile letting loose a yell that must have shook loose the statuary on the front of Mr. Palmer's tavern. Not content with this, the lungy Clevelanders rigged up on a long pole a, frame bearing four big portraits of their fetich and marched around and around the hall with taunting yells of triumph that made the Boies boom look sick enough to throw up.

GROVER SURE TO WIN.

free drinks and lots of them. Tonight the Watterson and Bandana Clubs of Louisville called on California and let forth brass and chin music until the welkin fairly rang. THE CONVENTION MEETS. Almost a Panic-Sympathy for Blaine Ex-pressed-A Brief Session.

CHICAGO, June 21.—By the Associated Press.] A circus tent, greatly magnified, with a dozen huge white pendants stretching from the covering to the floor, is the appearance of the big Democratic wigwam from the interior What appeared to be pendants were really stout posts supporting the great canopy of wood, raised some distance above the walls to admit light and air from all sides. Blue silken banners were distributed on the main floors, bearing the names of various States, and showed where the State delegations should be seated. Around and back of them, rising like an amphitheater, are eleven tiers of seats con-taining spectators, the entire structure having room for more than 20,000 people. The chairman's desk is the people. The chairmans desk is the same over which Cleveland and Hendricks were nominated in 1884, surmounted by huge bouquets of flowers. The great interior is wreathed with red, white and blue streamers, flags and banners, with here and there the shields of different States, with hervalts of honored Democrates. and there the shields of different States, with portraits of honored Democrats of the past. The States are seated according to their alphabetical order, Alabama having the front row and New York being well back. The crowd began to gather as early as 11 o'clock, though the convention was not to be called to order till noon and it was long after that hour before the actual calling to order took place. When the gavel finally fell the great structure was completely filled with people.

While the convention was assembling the blue satin banner of the Horace Boies Club of Davenport, Iowa, was borne forward at the head of that delegation of rugged men who will sit in the Whatever may have been the sentiment of individuals as to the most eligible man to select as a Presidential candidate, the Republican party and a very large portion of those unattached to any political organization will profoundly regret the retirement of James G. Blaine from public life.

It is reported as probable that he will not return to Washington as a visitor but will either go abroad or retire to peaceful life in his home in Maine.

If this is true or not the country loses its greatest public man, one whose torch illumined whatever was dark before he came to it.

To say that his career is strikingly similar to that of his great predecessor, Henry Clay, down to its apparent close, is but to call attention to a fact as familiar as it is singular.

GUILTY AS CHARGED.

Charles Pinard Convicted of an Infamous Crime.

The First Case Under the Statute of March 31, 1891,

To Prevent Placing Married Women in Houses of Prostitution.

A Frightful State of Depravity Brough Out During the Examin Witnesses-Some Very Damaging Admissi

The first case brought in this county under the new statute of March 81, 1891, which is "An act to prevent the placing or keeping or leaving of marplacing or keeping or leaving of mar-ried women in houses of prostitution, and to punish persons therefor," came up for trial before Judge Smith and a jury in Department One yesterday morning. It was that against Charles Pinard, charged with having permitted his wife to remain in a house of prostiintion from January 28 to April 26 last.
District Attorney McLachlan appeared for the prosecution, while the defendant was represented by Messrs. S. A. Garrett and Calvin Edgerton.

The first witness called was the com-plainant, Mrs. Anna L. Pinard, a very prepossessing brunette, attired in a neatly-fitting black costame, who was neatly-fitting black costume, who was not in the least abashed by her surroundings. She testified to the effect that she was 19 years of age and the wite of the defendant, to whom she was married January 28 last. The marriage certificate was identified and introduced in evidence, but as the defense admitted the marriage it was not read to the ture.

The witness stated that since her The witness stated that since her marriage she had lived at Maud Cameron's house of prostitution, No. 208 North Alameda street, her husband having sent her there for the purpose of obtaining money with which to start housekeeping, the second day after their marriage. She continued to reside there until her husband was arrested in April. While there he visited her on two occasions, and insisted upon her remaining there. She then asked him if that was his purpose in marrying her, to which he replied that they could not keep house unless she made money enough. He never gave her any money, but demanded all she carned, and she furnished him with money on several occasions. One day, while intoxicated, he knocked her down because she did not meet him at her secause she did not meet him at her nother's house according to agreement and give him money for a new suit of libthes. He worked for Newmark & and give him money for a new suit of clothes. He worked for Newmark & Co. for three weeks, but threw up his situation in order to follow her to San Francisco, one of the women at Maud Cameron's place having telephoned him, at her request, to the effect that she had left the city.

Upon cross examination Mrs. Pluard admitted that prior to her marriage with the defendant she had lived at Ethel Wilson's bouse of prostitution for some time. Her name at that time was Mrs. Anna L. Cram, she having been married before. Her first husband is still living. She lived with him three years, part of the time at San Bernardino. Before going to Ethel Wilson's ahe jived with her suches; at No. 616 Thy ty-sixth street, University, for alyout three years after she left Cram. An attempt was made to show by the about three years after she left Cram. An attempt was made to show by the witness that during that time she lived with a man named John Stewart, now employed on the Dominguez ranch, but she indignantly denied that such was the case, and stated that he was her mother's son by a former marriage.

She said that Pinard knew what she was when he married her, although he only met her at her mother's house, because he asked her brother to telephone to Mand Criveron's House for her to come out 4rd see him. After she and her brother had instituted criminal proceedings against Pinard she continued to reside there, but since that time had her brot'ser had instituted criminal pro-ceedings against Pinard she continued or side there, but since that time had lived at home part of the time. Her 'eason for having him arrested was that she knew he never intended to keep her and she was tired of keeping him. She had given him over $100 of her earnings at different times, and had rented a room at the Gollmer House for him, but part of the time he had lived at her mother's house. He had never given her one cent, nor had he ever re-quested her to leave Maud Cameron's house and threatened to leave town un-less she remained there. William D. Wicks, a dissipated look-

William D. Wicks, a dissipated look ing youth apparently about 18 years of age, then took the stand and testified age, then took the stand and testified to the effect that Mrs. Pinard was his sister. After her marriage she lived in a house of prostitution on Alameda street. She met the defendant at her mother's house on Thirty-sixth street twice to his knowledge, and on each occasion he saw her give defendant $5.

On cross-examination the witness stated that his sister had lived at Maud Cameron's prior to her marriage with Cameron's prior to her marriage with Pinard, whereupon he was excused from testifying further.

Somewhat to the surprise of his au ditors the District Attorney annunced at this juncture, "the people rest." The defendant's counsel at once arose and moved the court to advise the the jury to acquit the defendant on the ground that the prosecution had failed to make out a case, the marriage of the complainant to the defendant not hav-ing been proved, she herself having tes-ing been proved, she herself having tes-tified that her former husband was alive, and it not having been shown that she had been divorced.

Judge Smith remarked that in a case of this kind it was evident that the marriage must be strictly proved. It had been shown by the witness that she had been married before and that her first husband is still alive, and the law presumed that that marriage still existed until the contrary was shown. It was his impression that it devolved upon the prosecution to show that a

It was his impression that it devolved upon the prosecution to show that a divorce had been obtained and he felt with the defendant on the proposition. District Attorney McLachlan argued that the fact of her marriage to defendant, which had been admitted by the defense, was alone sufficient to do away with the necessity of proving the divorce. However, as the Court felt otherwise, he would ask leave to recall Mrs. Plnard and prove the divorce by her. This was a matter entirely within the discretion of the Court.

The defendant's counsel insisted that it would be an abuse of its discretion for the Court to grant such a request after the case was closed.

Judge Smith admitted that it was a matter of discretion with him, but remarked that he was very doubtful about marked that he was very doubtful about allowing such practice. At the same time the question was a somewhat aovel one and he would therefore take matter under advisement until 2 o'clock. A recess was thereupon de-clared until that hour.

Upon reconvening for the afternoon assion Judge Smith announced that after examining a number of authorities this year. The behad decided to grant the District about a week attorney's request, although he considered the defendant's motion well taken, with one exception. That motion would, however, be overruled.

Mrs. Pinard was thereupen recalled and the judgment rell in case No. 18,745, entitled Anna L. Cram vs. Abraham L. Cram, was introduced in evidence. The witness, was not cross-examined, and both sides again rested.

The defendant's counsel then moved the Court to advise the jury to acquit his client on the ground that the State had not proved the venne or shown that the matter at issue was within the jurisdiction of the court.

The District Attorney smilingly admitted that he had overlooked that essential point, and asked the Court to again allow him to reopen his case.

Mrs. Pinard once more took the stand and testified that all the events she had related occurred in the city of Los Angeles, county of Los Angeles and State of California.

geles, county of Los Angeles and State of California.

Upon cross-examination the witness was confronted with her testimony taken at the preliminary examination before Justice Austin, when she stated that Pinard gave her $10 after their marriage, and was asked to account for the discrepancy between that and her statement at the morning session to the effect that he never gave her any money, but she was unable to remember what she had said in the morning. She testified that she furnished Pinard with the money for both the marriage license and the minister's fes, when they were married, he being out of work and penniless. After the caremony she told Pinard that she would leave Maud Cameron's house if he would take her, but he insisted upon her returning there. Since his arrest she had remained there until two weeks ago, because she was in debt and could not get out before. When asked whether or not her mother knew she was in that house the witness created a sensation of California cause she was in debt and could not get out before. When asked whether or not her mother knew she was in that house, the witness created a sensation by replying "Certainly, she did."

The State again rested its case, and after some little jocularity between counsel as to whether there would be another request to reopen it, the defendant, Charles Pinard, was called to the stand in his own behalf.

Pinard, a clean-shayen youth with very dark hair and eyes, did not make a very favorable impression upon the jury, as

His testimony was to the effect that he was a native of Ohio and 25 years of age. He denied ever having consented to his wife re-turning to Maud Cameron's house after their marriage, and stated that he had endeavored to persuade her to leave the place. It was understood between her mother, his wife and himself that after they were married she would leave, but she refused to do so until she had $100 of her own money. While he was she refused to do so until she had $100 of her own money. While he was working for Newmark & Co. he gave her $25, his first two weeks' pay.

Upon cross-examination he restified that the complainant asked him to marry her, and promised to leave Mand Cameron's place. Her mother then persuaded him to do so, as the only chance of reforming her, promising to furnish them with a home at her house, until they made one of their own. Thinking that he loved the girl he married her two days later, but two days after their marriage she returned to the house on Alamedastreet. Thomas Fenning, a piano-mover, swore that he saw the complainant picking flowers in Maud Cameron's yard on Tuesday, June 7 last.

A number of character witnesses were called, but failed to appear, and the defense closed its case.

Dane gave the first of his series of three lectures at the First Methodist Church last evening. His subject was "Tramping and Camping Among the Ruins of the Seven Churches of Asia." The audience was not large, owing to the fact of its being commencement week, which called many in other directions. The gifted speaker and traveler took his hearers with him for a visit to these seven churches, the remains of which he visited in 1884, and in the order in which they are recorded by John in the first chapters of revelations. He was listened to wish rapt attention, as though fashed back to the life of centuries ago, so vivid did he make the modes of life of those days. It is no small thing to walk to the footsteps of the great of the past ages and through the colossal ruins of their edifices. He mentioned many beautiful customs still prevailing, fer instance, any traveler has a right to pluck fruit when and where he pleases to eat, but must take none away, that would be theft, but the Mussulman believes that God never designed any to go hungry. He made a clear statement concerning the truth of the Hible regarding these churches, as the scripture is exactly fulfilled in each case.

The subject of the lecture this evening is "Londen, the Marvelous."

Thar or Thar 'Bouts. [Chicago Tribune.]
In the Republican National convention of 1880 Roscoe Conking introduced his nominating speech with the following verse:

When asked what State he hailed from, Our sole reply shall be:
"He comes from Appomation."
And its famous apple tree."

The Troy (N. Y.) Times suggests the following adaptation of the above as a good send-off for Cleveland by the delegate who puts him in nomination:

When asked what State he halls from, Our sole reply shall be:
"He comes from Massachusetts,
And his cottage by the sea;
"Likewise from Little Phody."

"Likewise from Little Rhody, And Jersey's foreign shore— With several States to hear from If you should want some more."

If you should want some more."

The pertinence of the above is to be found in the fact that originally Cleveland was a resident of New York. He next hailed from Massachusetts. Just before the Rhode Island election he was announced as a citizen of that State, but has since moved and now hails from New Jersey, where he probably will remain in case he is nominated, as it is necessary to carry that State. In case he is not nominated he might as well be a favorite son of Oklahoma as of any other place. Pending the nomination he will try to spread over as many States as possible.

Soon after his departure Alameda Kidner, the wife of an uneducated laborer of Melrose, disappeared, and then it was that Mrs. Bentley and her friends became aware of her husband's unfaithfulness. Left as she was, almost pentiless, 74 years of age and her hair a silver gray, with declining years, her unfaithful husband no doubt thought he never would be troubled by her, and in his California home he could be happy with the woman whose wily ways had ensaared him. Not so, however, for when Mrs. Bentley learned of his whereabouts, with the assistance of friends, she traveled almost across the continent to prosecute him. for a few months for the benefit of his

T. W. Roomson, class president, made the opening address. His remarks were short and pithy.

Mr. Robinson introduced Miss Abbie Chapin, the class poet, who reviewed their four years' course in verse. Her poem showed much pleasing thought in its composition. The class song, to the tune of "Comrades," came next, and caused considerable merriment. Miss Mamie Sawyer followed this with an essay on "University Extension.

A college song was then sung by the class, and Miss Josie Maclay next read the class prophecy. The various future occupations assigned to the members of the class were quite amusing and very pleasing.
Mr. Robinson then presented their class button to Charles Winsor, president of '93. Mr. Winsor replied with a few well-chosen words, and after presenting the other members of '93 with a few small tokens of their apprecia-tion, a college song was sung by all and the people departed, feeling that they had enjoyed the afternoon. THE ARISTOTELIANS.

New York, June 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The committee to notify Whitelaw Reid of his nomination for the Vice-Presidency today went to Ophir farm, Reid's country residence, near White Plains, where they proceeded to carry out their instructions. The address of notification was delivered by Senator Dubols. His speech was the fact that it came unsought and with rare unanimity, and continued:

Your constant, consistent and effective advocacy of Republican measures for many years and the honor and dignity with which you represented our country abroad have merited for you this distinction. Americans appreciate the patient, skillful, diplomatic record, by which you opened the markets of France to the products of the American farmer. We believe the people will sastain the Republican principles and indorse personally our standard-bearers and that the wisdom of our selection at Minneapolis will be fully demonstrated by your triumphant election at the polls in November.

Mr. Reid, in replying to the apeech of polls in November.

Mr. Reid, in replying to the speech of the Senator, expressed his heartfalt sense of gratitude for the confidence shown and the high trust devolved by the nomination. He spoke of the Republican party as having guided the country in a nath of unparalleled proscountry in a path of unparalleled pros-perity with but four years of interval since 1860. He said:

since 1860. He said:

A profound sense of responsibility and 3 most earnest desire to discharge the trust reposed to the satisfaction of 65,000,000 freemen and for the best interests of the country overmasters me. I did not seek the great honor conferred, as you have stated. Therefore I am the more prompt in saying, as a citizen and a Republican, that I shall not shrink from the duty.

in saying, as a citizen and a Nepublican, that I shall not shrink from the duty.

The speaker accepted and adopted in full the issues laid down by the Minneapolis platform, and said:

These are the principles under which the country has attained phenominal prosperity and growth. Under them labor has been freed, honored, better rewarded than elsewhere. The largest example of equality before the law the world has yet seen has been promoted. To reject these principles would be to indict the glorious history of our Nation for almost the past third of a century. You find a natural leader in the eminent public servant, the substantial results of whose wise and faithful administration have furnished such inspiration for the canvass. I had expected to find associated with him my distinguished friend who now adorns the office of Vice-President. As, however, the party thought wise to adhere to the doctrine of rotation. In office it gives to me the right-to-claim not merely the earnest support of the united party, but the best counsel and the most watchful personal assistance of all its faithful, experienced leaders to the end that this great commonwealth may throw a decisive vote on the Republican side.

Referring to Blaine, he said:

Referring to Blaine, he said:
I cannot suppress on this occasion one word of affectionate recollection for my friend in so many Presidential campaigns, the great statesman whose present cruel bereavement, following hard on two similar blows has touched the tenderest sympathy of all, not merely his political associates, but both parties and the whole country.

The speaker closed by predicting Republican success in November.

A CORRESPONDENT at Orange asks if there is a tariff on oranges and lemons imported into the United States, and whether it was not raised by the McKinley bill. There is a tariff on these fruits, but it was lowered by the McKinley law. According to the schedule of 1883 oranges were taxed on importation 25 cents a box. The McKinley law reduced this to 18 cents a box, or 80 cents per 100 pounds.

THE better class of white citizens at Chattanooga, Tenn., recently gave their brothers of the Southern States an object lesson of value if they will only follow it. The negro Weims was charged with a heinous crime, and while he was in jail a mob was formed to bang him. But the law-abiding white citi zens rallied around the officers and guarded the jail. Weims was given a fair trial, was convicted and sentenced to a term of twenty-one years in the penitentiary. This shows that there is difficulty about convicting and punishing negro offenders in the South when they are guilty, and that the frequent resort to mob violence is unnecessary.

A curious phenomenon in meteorology observes the Chicago Herald, is that the storms of violence peculiar to this season have made a circuit eastward from the West, while the heat storm which has suddenly arrived has come westward from the East. Old mother earth has evidently made up her mind to show incredulous people that she can make crust changes when she pleases in gigantic forms by indulging as she has done for three months in a succession of small earthquakes all over the globe. She has brought her hot temper over from the continent of Europe, where people have been roasting for six weeks in Paris and other capitals, and after frying New York, Boston and Philadelphia and the entire Atlantic seaboard she tries a little of it on the West. The hot wave has not reached California yet, but we may look for it before long

THE City Attorney has advised the Council against taking any action looking to the condemnation of the property of the Citizens' Water Com pany, on the ground that the plant is practically worthless, and would not supply the wants of the hill section. even if the pipes were not must-eaten, as they are too small. The reasons given by the City Attorney are sound, and if the corporation will not or can not immediately supply the hill-portion of the city with the necessary quantity of pure water, it is the duty of the authorities to take the matter in hand and protect that portion of the city. Loss of life and destruction of property -traceable to an inadequate supply Impure water-should not be permitted while the city has a remedy in its own hands.

THE most graceful and touching tribnte which was ever offered to an Amer-Ican citizen was the adoption yesterday by the Democratic National Convention of a resolution of sympathy with Mr. and Mrs. Blaine for the loss of their son. Never before in the history of the coun try has a great political party by its representatives in national convention given a similar evidence of the spirit of Americanism and sympathy in suffering with a great leader of an opposing This extraordinary expression of good will but illustrates the high es teem in which the distinctive Amer character of Mr. Blaine lean held by the whole people. In hi sorrow Mr. Blaine may find consolation in the knowledge that the American people love and honor him for his eminent services to his country, and that today, withou party distinction, he is regarded as th greatest of living Americans. To be James G. Blaine is today greater than to be President. The whole people will rejoice that so great a body as the National Democratic Convention should honor itself and the generous instincts of their countrymen.

THE TIMES-MIRROR COMPANY.

The Duty of Republican Conventions The Republican State Central Committee has fixed the dates for holding the State and Congressional conventions in this State. There is no word of advice that can properly be given regarding the selection of candidates for Congress which will not be applicable to county con ventions. In Congressional and county affairs the Republican party will be judged by the character of the nominees which it places before the people. A bad nomination for Congress or for county offices will deprive the party of the votes of upright, self-respecting Republicans. The belief that any kine of nominations can be carried through in a Presidential campaign is a mistaken one. And this is especially true in Southern California, where nearly every Republican voter can read and write, and consequently does his own thinking. This is not a campaign in which tickets will be elected upon enthusiasm; the result will come by placing only the best men of the party in nomination; men whose characters are without the shadow of a stain upon their personal and political records. The party conare above reproach, and they alone can be elected to office, if the Democrats nominate men of the same kind, and in political battles it is always safe to assume that the minority party will send its best men to the front.

The duty of conventions of the major ity party is a serious one. It is generally conceded that a nomination by the Republicans in this Congress district and in this county is tantamount to an election, and many aspirants act upon the idea that they have only to set up the primaries-no matter how-and thus secure the honors and profits of office. Therefore they resort to combinations with the rings and gangs who are in office, or who control an element which is not creditable to any party, and expect, when by such means they are nominated, to force their election in the name of the party If bad or unfit men are to fill the offices crats, that party pride may not be humbled by the spectacle of unworthy publicans governing under cover of the grand record of the party. But it is not necessary that unworthy should be elected. The Republican conventions are yet to be held, and if the people select the right kind of delegates we will have no trouble about the characters of the nominees. Every Republican owes it to himself and to the country to leave his business and affairs long enough to go to the prima ries and vote for decent men for dele gates. Then if there should be a be traval by delegates, or the tools of schemers should carry the elections, there will be an opportunity to correct the evil at the polls.

Republicans, nominate clean men men whose personal and political rec ords will bear the most searching inves tigation, and the battle is already wor If you do not, defeat or party dishonor, or both, are before you

The Assembled Demograts.

The Democratic convention, after or ganizing yesterday and attending to a few preliminaries, took an adjournment until today. It is starting off with something of the same deliberation that characterized the recent Republican convention. Unless all signs fail in a stormy year it will also resemble the respect of reaching a speedy conclusion when it gets settled down to business. Every prognostication seems to point to the nomination of Cleveland on the first ballot, and the choice of Gray of Indiana for second place. Our special telegraphic correspondence from Mr. Mosher has kept readers of THE TIMES well posted on all the gossip that was going at the head center, and will give photographic views of the convention during its session. THE Democratic convention contains 898 delegates, and 599 will be necessary to a choice. The highest number claimed for Hill by his friends would lack about 200 of enough to nominate while the highest number for Cleveland would lack only 22 of the requisite number. It is believed that the anti-Hill delegates of the convention are very bitter in their opposition, while with the exception of New York, Georgia and the silver States the anti-Cleve land delegates are not bitter in their hostility. They are largely made the supporters of favorite sons. If, as the Clevelandites, claim; the ex-President is either the first or the second choice of two-thirds of the delegates, he is bound to be nominated, but if, as the Hillites insist, more than one-third of the delegates prefer a dark horse, then Cleveland will be defeated. We still adhere to our opinion that Cle still adhere to our opinion that Cleve-land must make a winning on the first ballot, if he makes it at all.

In two essential respects the Demo-crats differ from the Republicans in their methods of procedure. The two Democratic rules are: First, to allow a State convention to bind all the dele gates from that State to vote as a unit irrespective of individual or district preferences, and, second, to require a two-thirds majority as necessary to a nomination. The unit rule softens the hardship of the two-thirds rule, and on the other hand, the two-thirds rul checks the unit rule. Were it not forthi check a minority candidate might easily win. For example, New York casts al her votes for one candidate, and if th delegation were pretty nearly evenly divided some thirty-four votes would be cast for a candidate under compu sion. Even with the two-thirds rul it is possible to nominate a candidat who is not the real choice of even a bare majority. On the other hand, a man who is the first choice of two-thirds of the delegates might fail to develop a bare majority. Ordinarily, however, the two rules working together serve as a check upon each ether

We notice that the Chicago Herald gives a note of warning to the conven tion. However hilarious the member may-become they should not stamp or if they do stamp or thump their walking sticks on the floor they should not do so in rhythmic unison with the music The Wigwam is only a temporary structure and is none too strong to hold ap the immense concourse of people as sembled there. An enthusiastic army of Democrats all marking time on its floor might cause such a thythmic vibration of its supports as to strain them beyond their capacity. It would be like a detachment of soldiers marching in step across a bridge. Therefore the Democratic convention will stamp at its peril.

There seems to be an ominous fear that something worse than nominating a foredoomed ticket may happen in the Democratic convention.

Only a few days ago the Wigwan was struck by a tornado and unroofed and the opening of the convention yes terday was marked by the prevalence of a thunder-storm. No doubt mapy of the delegates would rather have been elsewhere than in the big barn of a structure.

However, let us hope that no unto-ward disaster will occur to mar the proceedings at Chicago. While we are of course, desirous of knocking the Democrats out, we would prefer to do so in the regulation way. Old Meteorology will please keep his hands off and let us punish the enemy at the polls.

Two great dangers menace the Democratic party, one external, the other internal. The First is the organized machinery of organized capital, supported by the whole power of the Government. The second is the tendency among Democrats to make issues among themselves. Two needs, therefore, stand before us, indispensable to success—unity and harmony. One is represented before you in this chair and gavel, the other you must supply yourselves. It is in this spirit that I greet you, fellow Democrata, as advance guard of the grand army sent forward to blaze the pathway to victory. Blaine the Only One Cheered—It Still Looks Like "Cleveland and Gray." CHICAGO, June 21.—[By the Associ-

ted Press. | The National Den Convention was in session two hours today, and during that time the name of but one illustrious American was men tioned, James G. Blaine. By a singular coincidence, the Democratic ideal, Grover Cleveland, who is destined to be the nominee of the convention, was un mentioned throughout the session, while that of Blaine called forth the most enthusiastic demonstration of the day. Before the purport of the resolution was known, and immediately upon the men-tion of "Blaine," the secretary was interrupted by a tremendous ovation, which recalled the tribute accorded the which recalled the tribute accorded the name at Minneapolis. Equally pleasant was the incident which followed, when Hon. E. C. Sweet of Maine arose and thanked the convention on behalf of his State for the resolution adopted.

The indications are that the National Democratic Convention of 1892 will not be as inharmonious as was generally predicted. The proceedings today were unusually tame, but no action was offered to call forth any particular partyenthusiasm. The speech of the temporary chairman was well received, His arraignment of the Republican doctrine of protection was in original and effective language.

The only dissension which occurred in the day's proceedings was over an attempt of several delegates to throw open the vacant galleries to the crowds of eager Democrats who were standing outside in the rain. No one seems able to explain the reason, but throughout the session there were 8000 unoccupied seats in the galleries of the convention hall, and there was a great popular inquiry as to who held tickets for the seats. No one volunteered any information, but the National Committee naturally came in for most of the blame, and it was generally asserted that members of the organization or some of their favorite friends had pocketed the tickets, to be used at the best time, to the best advantage in filling the galleries with cheers for some particular candidate.

Probable never in the history of Probable never in the history of American national conventions have the press arrangements been so wretched and the accommodations for the active workers so inadequate. While there are 8000 vacant gallery seats, there are over 400 representatives of the press, half of whom are representatives of daily papers, standing on the outside and unable to gain admittance to the hall. Most of these gentlemen are from Western and Southern States and falled to secure the usual courtesies befailed to secure the usual courtesies becouse of the matter being referred to the Washington Press Committee. Only 850 seats were accorded the committee, and they quite naturally gave preference to papers having represen-tatives at the national capital. The tatives at the national capital. The Congressional Press Committee maintained that as only 850 seats were allotted them for distribution, they certainly could not give accommodation for 2000 newspaper workers, and that they should not be blamed for the lack of facilities when the question was determined solely by the National Committee. Several vain attempts were made to open the vacant galleries to mittee. Several vain attempts were made to open the vacant galleries to outsiders and particularly to Union vet-erans of the late war, but the whole matter was referred to the Committee on Resolutions.

The conviction that Cleveland shall be the leader of the Democratic party had full possession of the delegates to-day, and was so fixed in their minds that all other things were merely done to reach the result for which the convention will rush impetuously and with a una-nimity that must nettle the helpless op-position and amaze the Republican

The two strong factors in the Demo-The two strong cratic party, the South and Tammany cratic party, the South and Tammany Hall, do not play leading parts, as they want to to do, and as undoubtedly they want to to do, and as undoubtedly they have they in accord. With the could were they in accord. With the South Democratic success is above the individual, and the debate as to who would achieve success was won by the supporters of Cleveland. The moment the South believed that Cleveland would carry New York, the opposition in the South, headed by Watterson, melted away and the popular demand for the nomination of Cleveland grew irresistible. This means that Tammany Hall is one of the obstacles to Cleve-land's royal triumph. The fact is maniland's royal triumph. The fact is mani-fest that the broken Republican lines in Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas have infused courage into the Democrats. The Nebraska and the Democrats. The courage into the Democratic States of the West, doubtful Democratic States of the West, uniting on Cleveland, constrained the opposition in the Solid South to yield. On the silver question, the South and West are in accord and are therefore inclined to support each other in all matters. But neither can the South nor the West furnish a candidate for the Presidency in 1892. Indeed, the effort with brass bands and public parades to make a candidate of Hill, Palmer, Morrison and Boies, was no more successful than the whispering for Gorman and Carlisie, and while it is true ex-Federal office-holders are here in formidable numbers, still men like Gorman and Palmer, Boies and Gray are here to execute the will of the masses. Never wa a national Democratic convention more thoroughly dominated by popular opinion against the judgment of many of the most generous-minded acknowledged leaders.

The discussion of this peculiar situation in the Hoosier State has caused the entire question to be opened again. A PROPHET NOT NEEDED

To Predict That Grover Clevela Be the Nominee.

CHICAGO, June 21 .- [By the Associated Press.] The opening of the convention day found the clouds of political dissension clearing away. It does not require the divine gift of prophecy to predict the nomination of Grover Cleveland on the first ballot. Indeed, it is the result conceded even by the friends of Hill and Boies, the only other candidates now in the field, though there is dates now in the need, though there is every indication that they will go down to defeat with their colors flying and the solid support of their respective States behind them. The official an-nouncements of Pennsylvania, Illinois and Indiana that they have decided that their favorite sons be dropped and to cast their aggregate of 142 votes for the extheir aggregate of 142 votes for the ex-President has about removed all doubts from the situation. All dark horses, including Gorman, Morrison, Russell and Campbell, with their fol-lowers are making to clamber into the band wagon of victory. The general expectation is that ex-Gov Isaac P. Gray of Indiana will be nominated for the Vice-Presidency. It is understood that his withdrawal from the race for first place was made on the assurance that the Cleveland men would support him for second place and as the Cleve-land forces are well disciplined there is little doubt the compact will be caris little doubt the compact will be car-

Kentucky this morning decided to cast its twenty-six votes solidly for Cleveland after an intensely exciting meeting at which Henry Watterson made one of his famous speeches, in which he said that henceforth he was for Cleveland, and hoped Mentucky would be in line when the man of destiny shall be, nominated. He declared that the last thirty-six hours under the wonderful management of ex-Secretary that the last thirty-six hours under the wonderful management of ex-Secretary Whitney had brought about a remarkable change in the situation in New York, and he now considered that the only ground on which he had opposed Cleveland had been removed and that Cleveland would be able to carry the State of New York.

At 11:30 tonight ex-Secretary Whitney stated that Cleveland was sure of 626 votes on the first ballot. This is a gain of 25 since yesterday. Whitney stated that there had been no conclusion reached as to a Vice-Presidential candidate.

Lively Row Over Their Claims—They Finally Withdraw Their Contest.

CHICAGO, June 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The Credentials Committee this afternoon selected John E. Lamb of Indiana for chairman and got to work. Arizona and New Mexico moved that each of those Territories be given six instead of two votes in the convention, the same as the Republicans gave at Minneapolis. There was vigor-

The New York anti-snap delegation having decided that they would present their case to the committee and not let-it go by default, selected Gen. Bragg to act for them. He filed the Syracuse credentials, thereby giving the first no-tice officially. Belmont, representing tice officially. Meanwhile the anti-snappers had Meanwhile the anti-snappers had another conference and this evening there was a hot time before the Credentials Committee. Bitter words were exchanged before Mr. Coudert could get a hearing for the purpose of withdrawing the pro forma contest. The anti-snappers' supporters heard themselves called bolters, mugwumps and other hard names. They heard their Democracy impugned and their method of presenting the contest called smuggling. The feeling several times ran high, but senting the contest called smuggling. The feeling several times ran high, but Chairman Lamb managed to keep the committee in order. Having instituted formal proceedings, and thereby carried out the directions of the Syracuse resolutions, the anti-snapper delegates withdrew the contest and terminated the incident in a resolution, submitted to the cident in a resolution submitted to the committee.

It sets forth that it is the first wish of the delegation and those it repre-sents to promote the supremacy of the Democratic principles, and assure the election of the party's candidate, and having received from representatives of more than thirty-five States and Territories a concurrent expression of opinion that the interests of the Democracy will be promoted by the avoidance of a controversy concerning New Yopk, they have to decided to press no further their claims for membership. It was announced that the resolutions were adopted at the request of the signers of a letter representing thirty-five States, who appealed for harmony, and it was understood that this letter was sent to the Syracuse delegation at their request as they desired not to push the contest under the circumstances.

When Coudert made his appearance and asked to withdraw the contest, Bourke Cockran raised a question as to the request being in order. He did not recognize the right of any member of the Syracuse committee to make a contest. It must be made in the conventest. It must be made in the conven-tion. He asked that the motion be ruled

St. Clair of West Virginia stirred up a lively racket by a warm denunciation of the Syracuse delegation, talking of mugwumps, bolters, etc. Gen. ammany Threatens to Throw Its Strength to Boles or Gorman. Chicago, June 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The Tammany leaders are still sullen and continue to maintain that Cleveland cannot carry New York. Some of the lesser lights even declare they will, as a protest, cast the New York vote against Cleveland on question of making his nomination unanimous.

Tammany held a gloomy meeting this morning. Gov. Flower of New York said after it was over that Hill's friends were ready to cast their votes for the Democrat who could carry New York, and would even consent that Hill's name be not mentioned in the convention if such a man could be found. If the friends of Boles, Gorman or Morrison could show that they could carry New York, Tammany would vote for him.

STILL SOLID FOR BOIES. Iowans Cling to the Hope of Nominating Their Governor.
CHICAGO, June 21.—By the Associated Press.] Every effort of the Cleveland people to persuade the Iowa delegation to desert Gov. Boies has proved signally unsuccessful. Despite the almost certainty of Cleveland's nom-ination on the first ballot the Boies people announce that their candidate will remain in the field till the end, not only as a matter of State pride, but as a protest against the nomination of a candidate not supported by the delegation from his own State. Indeed Boles' followers are almost as bitter as the Hill men in their protestations against Cleveland's nomination. The delegation this morning decided to cast its solid vote for Boles, even if every other delegate in the convention voted for Cleveland, and under no circumstance to allow the consideration of his name for second place. They say that here is no reasonable ground for supposing that Cleveland can carry Iowa. The Iowa people are more confident tonight. They have the assurance of final support from many quarters, and in their conference they have agreed with Tammany that there will probably be no choice on first ballot. Delegate-atlarge Martin, says the indications to night are much brighter, but he denied that any conference had been held with the Tammy leaders. "New York's first ballot will go for Hill, and Boles will receive their support later," said a prominent Iowa delegate.

NEGRO DEMOCRATS.

They Held a Meeting in Chicago Yester day—Some Resolutions.

CHICAGO, June 21.—[By the Associated Press.] A meeting was held at Democratic headquarters today by colored Democrats from all parts of the country, under the auspices of the Negro National Democratic Committee.
Many of them present claimed to be Republicans, but said the treatment of the colored race by President Harrison did not meet their views of justice, and de-sired henceforth to enter the Democratic fold.

Among the prominent colored men present were: Dr. Thompson, Minister to Hayti under President Cleveland; C. H. Taylor, ex-minister to Liberia; H. F. Downing, ex-Minister to St. Paul de Loanda; M. F. SILVER'S FRIENDS.

They Talk of Bolting the Ticket and Join-ing the People's Party.
CHICAGO, June 21.—[By the Associ-clated Press.] The silver States dele-gates held another caucus this afteron and, in view of Gorman's refusal to admit of his name being used as a candidate for the Presidency, they decided to cast their votes for Gov. Boies. A sub-committee was appointed, headed by Patterson of Colorado, for the purpose of presenting the silver views of Western delegates to the Committee on Resolutions. It was further decided, in case the committee refused to recommend a free coinage, bi-metallic plan, that an appeal be taken to the convention. that an appeal be taken to the conven-tion. There was much talk among the delegates present of throwing the support of the silver States to the Peo-ple's party in case the Democratic con-vention should not give beed to silver interests, and it is probable that repre-sentatives of the silver States will wait on the convention of that party at Omaha, July 4, with that purpose in view.

Democratic party and insist upon its enforcement whenever circumstances may require, and to this end and for both defense and commerce alike, we demand that the Nicaragua Canal be built with American money and absolutely controlled by the United States. The completion of the work will be the greatest achievement of the age, surpassing in importance the Suez Canal. We favor such governmental aid, surrounded by every proper safeguard as will secure this object and the speedy completion of the work.

Judge Lawrence Arthur of California, chairman of the Legislative Committee of the recent Nicaraguan National Convention, made a vigorous 'argument before the Committee on Resolutions' He said:

said:

We appear before you, gentlemen of the committee, in behalf of the Nicaragua Canal. We are a committee appointed by the convention held in St. Louis. The con-Canal. We are a committee appointed by the convention held in St. Louis, The convention had representatives from nearly all States of the Union. It was the deliberate opinion of the convention that the project of building the Nicaragua Canal is feasible at a cost of less than $100,000,000. The opinion was based upon surveys and experiments made by competent engineers of the United States. While regarded as a measure of defense in war, the bringing by deep water of the Pacific Coasts on near to the Gulf and Atlantic coasts, is regarded equally as a matter of commerce. It is proper that the United States should give the project its aid and have governmental control of it. Other capital will be used, and the control thereof may fall into the hands of some other power, a thing to which the United States could not and would not consent. A committee similar to this was appointed to appear before the National Republican Convention at Minneapolls. That convention inserted a resolution on the subject in the platform and we want to ask for something more and better than that, and have, therefore, venured to draw up and present to your consideration the resolution which I have just submitted.

We denounce the policy of the Republican party, which by oppressive legislation, resulted in the gradual 'impoverishment of the farmer, and we arraign the Republican party as the enemy to the agricultural classes as well as organized labor. We reaffirm the old-time, Democratic doctrine of reciprocal trade relations with foreign powers, and denounce the reciprocity pretensions of the Republican party as a subterfuge designed to mislead and deceive.

The platform declares the present administration in its foreign relations to be an oppressor of the weak, and a truckler to the powerful. On the school question the platform says:

We commend the common school system, which had its birth under a Democratic administration and has stood the test of many years of practical operation, and declare in favor of freedom of education and for the right of the parent to control the teaching of his child, which is necessary to the main-tenance of civil and religious liberty.

There seems little doubt that this resolution will be incorporated in the plat-form, either literally or in substance. Its natural interpretation as a quasi denunciation of past Republican legis-lation in the States of Illinois and Wisconsin is relied upon as an effective means of attracting the Lutheran and other sectarian votes in those States. It is quite probable that the financial plank of Chairman Jone's platform will be somewhat modified.

The following is the resolution today adopted by the conference of silver States delegations and introduced in the committee by one of their repre-sentatives:

Brist, June 21.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] A frightful accident occurred yesterday on board the new French Cruiser Dupuy de Conne. A trial was being made of her machinery, when one of her beliers was blown out. when one of her boilers was blown on and an explosion occurred in one of the coal bunkers, totally disabling the vessel. The hold was at once filled with scalding steam and smoke, while boiling water cover the floor to a depth of sev eral inches. The unfortunate stokers and engineers imprisoned in the hold writhed in agony as the scalding steam filled their lungs, and falling to the floor they were scalded by the hot water. In their agony they bit them-

A NOTABLE WEDDING.

Bismarck's Son Herbert Married to an Austrian Countess.

VIENNA, June 21.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] The marriage of Count Herbert Bismarck and the Countess Margarethe Hoyos was solemnized this morning at the Evangelical Church in Dorothea strasse. The weather was beautiful.

Prince Bismarck was loudly cheered as he drove from the palace to the church. The little church was filled with a most brilliant assembly. Count von Scheuvaloff, Russian Ambassador to Germany, was the only Ambassador present. There was a burst of cheer-ing when Prince Bismarck and Count Herbert arrived. Both father and son wore the red and green ribbons of the Austrian Order of St. Stephens. At 11:30 another burst of cheering an-nounced the arrival of the bride, es-corted by Prince Hehenlohe von Bulow of the German embassy at Rome soon as the bridal party reached the altar the choir sang a hymn, after which the paster offered prayer. The marriage services were then proceeded with.

As the bridal party left the church
they were lustily cheered, Prince Bismarck especially being most warmly greeted. The party were then driven back to the Pallfy palace.

ANARCHIST RAVACHOL

The Leader of the Paris Reds Again Placed on Trial.

Paris, June 21.- [By Cable and Associated Press.] Ravachol, the Anarchist, was placed on trial today. The jury was drawn by lot and the names were kept secret in order to guard them in the event of conviction. In spite of the precautions several Anarists obtained admission to the court. Ravachol was frequently seen signaling to somebody in the audience.

In the course of the hearing Ravachol told how he murdered the hermit at Chambles, and began to talk again of the bad organization of society, etc. the bad organization of society, etc. The president interrupted, telling Rava-chol that he had no right to speak in behalf of the working classes, but only in behalf of assassins

The prisoners Beala and Soudero were also examined, and protested their innocence of the St. Etienne murder.

Gladstone as Peacemaker.

London, June 21 .- Gladstone held : long conference today with Justin Mc-Carthy, John Dillon and Timothy Healy, advising renewed efforts to reestablish union in the Irish Parliamentary party. THE SEASON'S CROPS.

A Fairly Good Year in California for Grain and Fruits.

SACRAMENTO, June 21.—[By the Associated Press.] The following is a synopsis of the weekly crop report for the week ending last evening, as issued by Director Barwick of the California Weather Service:

Haying is about over, resulting in a large crop of most excellent quality. Barley is being harvested and is an unusually large and good crop. Wheat harvesting is about started with the harvesting is about started with the output a variable one. In a few fields throughout the State the yield will be somewhat below the average, while in others it will be slightly above the average, thereby running up the entire crop throughout the great wheat belt of the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys. A warm wave during the latter part of the week was quite favorable to fruit, hops and late sown grain. The cherry, apricot, prune and pear The cherry, apricot, prune and pear crops are considerably below the av-erage of last year's output, while the peach crop is above the average in quantity, and the quality remains as good as ever.

The observer at Los Angeles reports for Southern California and says: "The weather continues cooler than the average, which is retarding the rapid ripening of fruit. Apricots are up in large bulk. The crop will soon be ready for the dryers."

THE LAST RITES.

Funeral Services Over the Remains of Er mons Blaine.

CHICAGO, June 21. - [By the Associated Press.] Funeral services over the remains of the late Emmons Blaine tool place at 2:80 this afternoon at the Mc Cormick residence, in this city. They were conducted by Rev. Dr. McPherson of the Second Presbyterian church. A large number of friends of the Mc-Cormick and Blaine families were present. The services were exceedingly simple and at the conclusion of them, Secretary and Mrs. Blaine and other members of the two families accom-panied by a large concourse of friends of the deceased followed the remains to the Graceland cemetery where they were deposited in the McCormick family vault eparatory to interment in an adjoin-g lot, which has been purchased for that purpose.

Maine Republican Convention PORTLAND (Me.,) June 21.—The Republican State Convention was called to order by J. H. Manley, who intro duced Herbert H. Heath as temporary chairman. Heath's references to Blaine and Reed, Hale and Frye were loudly cheered. Ex-Gov. Roby read a resolution of sympathy with Blaine and family on the death of Emmons Blaine, which was adopted by a rising vote.

Candidates for electors were chosen, and Henry B. Cleaves was nominated for Governor by acclamation.

The platform adopted says that the Republicans of Maine are committed to all the great principles of the party, and recognizes the tremarkable success. all the great principles of the party, and recognizes the "remarkable success of President Harrison's administration." Picking the Prune.
[B.M. Lelong.]
The prune should be picked from the tree when fully ripe, which is indicated when it passes from light reddish to purple, and by the withering condition of the fruit. It is very important that the fruit be thoroughly ripe, or else when dried it will be devoid of that rich flavor so essential in a marketable fruit. dried it will be devoid of that rich flavor so essential in a marketable fruit. In most sections the prune upon ripening has a tendency to drop to the ground, which fruit is gathered and processed with the rest of the crop. The picking of the fruit, simple as the process appears, is one of the most particular things in prune culture. Many of the leading growers go over their orchard eight or ten times, gathering the ripest fruit each time. People are kept continually at work in the season gathering the ripe fruit. Starting at one end of the orchard, they will work it over, and by the time they have got through, the part first gathered is repeated until the entire crop is harvested. The object is to get the fruit in its prime condition—rich, full, meaty and thoroughly ripe. If it dries a little on the tree and begins to shrivel it is none the worse. ripe. If it dries a little on the tree and begins to shrivel it is none the worse. The fruit is usually allowed to drop on the ground, from whence it is gathered, and no greater assistance is given it in falling than the gentlest tap on the trunk of the tree; a severe shaking even is not allowed. At the last picking the fluit that remains on the tree is gathered with that which has fallen. By this method the fruit is assured of positive ripeness, is solid and is charged with saccharine matter so desirable in the cured article. The prune will genthe cured article. The prune will generally drop from the tree when fully ripe, and will not roteven if left on the ground under the tree for several days. As the fruit shows indications of ripening the ground under the trees is gener-ally cleared of all rubbish and worthless ally cleared of all rubbish and worthless fruit, so that when the mature fruit falls it can be gathered by itself, free from rubbish. Sometimes a sheet is placed upon the ground under the tree and the ripe fruit is shaken into it, after which the sheet is picked up by the corners and the fruit turned into boxes and loaded on a wagon to be taken to the drying ground. to the drying ground. Going to Fires in Paris

People as a rule do not run to fires in Paris as they do in American cities, for, alas, there is a police regulation which sets forth that if there is no fireplug within reasonable distance of the burn ing house the male passers-by may be pounced upon and made to stand in a row and pass buckets from the nearest courtyard pump.

I remember once gazing with the most unmixed delight that fills the soul of the average spectator when something ridiculous befalls some one whom you do not know, and watching the police stop their prey and standing them in line to extinguish a small fire very near our own house, says the Home Journal.

There came past a tall dignified man, evidently a lawyer, who was rushing along in a great hurry reading an imposing document as he went. He did not notice the crowd, so he ran headlong into the midst of it, and was promptly served by the police. He long into the midst of it, and was promptly setzed by the police. He argued, he raved, he showed his document, but his remonstrances were useless, for he was suddenly lifted from his feet and carried like a shipwrecked wheelbarrow into the courtyard, and I saw him no more. He had opposed the French police, so was promptly crushed into submission by that judicial juggernaut.

A Revolutionary Soldier's Children.
[Baltimore Sun.]

There are now living in this State five children of Col. Gassaway Watkins, who served as an officer of the Mary land line throughout the Revolutionary land line throughout the Revolutionary war. They are John S. Watkins, who represented Howard county in the Maryland Senate, notably in 1861 during the session at Frederick; Mrs. Caroline Watkins, widow; Mrs. Margaret Gassaway Warfield, widow of Albert G. Warfield; Mrs. Abina Clarke, widow of William Clarke, all of Howard county, and Mrs. Priscilla Kenly, wife of George T. Kenly of Baltimore city. They are all hale and hearty and can recount many interesting reminiscences of the Revolutionary war as told to them by their heroic father, who lived te see all his children grown.

The Season of Commencement is Upon Us.

Reception to the Graduates at the Carleton.

The Pickwick Club People Can Play Whist.

July Celebration Probable-Meeting of the Local Democ. racy-Brevities.

The High school commencement seaso was fittingly ushered in Sunday evening at the Presbyterian Church, on which occasion the Presbyterian Church, on which occasion Rev. N. H. G. Fife preached and cloquent baccalaureate sermion before the members of the graduating class. Next on the programme came the handsome reception tendered the graduates yesterday evening at the Carlton parlors by Supt. Will S. Monroe and Principal J. D. Graham of the High school. Friday night the commencement exercises proper will be held at the operahouse and on Saturday evening the High school alumni will give a reception at High school alumni will give a reception at the residence of Dr. G. Roscoe Thomas on the residence of Dr. G. Roscoe Thomas on Orange Grove avenue.

The class of talented young ladies and gentlemen that is attracting so much attention is made up of the following members; Ethei Bishop, May Henderson, Ida Mellish, Winlfred Webb, Ida Hampton, Frank Stevens, Katle Mosher, Pauli Fife, Louis Chambers, Mary Mosher, Eunice Hodson, Roy Gray and Dora Moody. A count shows that the class numbers thirteen and those who are acquainted with its history assert positively that in this instance the alleged unlucky charm attaching to this number has been broken.

Last night's reception proved a delightunjucky charm attaching to this number has been broken.

Last night's reception proved a delightful occasion. Invitations had been extended to all the pupils of the High school and their parents, so that it was largely attended. All the High school teachers were present also and assisted in receiving the guests. The spacious parlors were tastefully decorated with flowers of varied discription. A striking floral piece was a ladder, the uprights wreathed with ity and the rungs, thirteen in number, trimmed in pink, the class color. As might be expected, Mr. Monroe and Mr. Graham proved themselves model entertainers, and all who came had a thoroughly good time. Refreshments were served by Taylor, and the pleasure of the evening was further enhanced by a musical and literary programme which had been arranged by the members of the tenth year grade.

gramme which had been arranged by the members of the tenth year grade.

At the operahouse Friday night seats will be free to all who come. Last year on a similar occasion the house was literally packed from top to bottom, and the audience will doubtiess, be equally large this time. The young lady graduates will read essays, and their associates of the sterner sex will deliver original orations. The literary productions will be interspersed with some excellent music in the shape of choruses, quartettes, etc., under the direction of Miss Stacey. Paull Fife will make the salutatory address, and the honor of the valedictory will fall upon Miss Winifred Webb.

Monifor of the valedictory will fall upon Miss Winifred. Webb.

The alumni reception on the night following will be the first of its kind in Pasadena, the High school being an institution of comparatively recent date here. Year before last there were six graduates; last year there were twelve, and this year thirteen, making thirty-one altogether. Of this number Fred Seares is on his way home from a European trip, Miss Gardner is attending school in Massachusetts, and two of the other young lady graduates have since been married. The remaining twenty-seven alumni, it is believed, will be present at the reception, which ought to prove a festive occasion when a host of pleasant reminiscences will be recalled.

NEAKING THE FINISH.

MEARING THE FINISH.

Although the interior of the Lake Vine-yard Company's massive reservoir on Villa completed, there is still a great street is completed, there is still a great deal of life and bustle about the place, and inuch remains to be done before the job is whelly finished.

Yesterday Director Röyce had a large force of men laying an eleven-inch plpe from Marengo avenue along Villa street to the reservoir. This job will be completed within a day or two, and it will be from this source that the reservoir will be fed until fall, when direct connection will be established with the Mountain-street reservoir by a larger main.

established with the Mountain-street reservoir by a larger main.

The cementers are now at work laying a three-foot walk on the bank that will extend about the complete circumference. This will be bordered on the inside by a neat fence, and outside of the walk will be a fife roadway, which in turn will be surrounded by a high picket fence, the latter being nearly completed. When all the work is done this reservoir, besides being of immense practical value, will prove another great attraction to which Pasadenians can justly "point to with pride."

MANOTHER VICTORY.

The Pickwick Club whist players well sustained their reputation in this line Monday night by defeating for the second time their skilled Los Angeles opponents. The home players went in to Los Angeles on the 7 o'clock train and returned at 11:30. The scores were as follows, the Pasadena teams being first named: Conger and Rose, 42 points, against Arnold and Rinehart, 34 points; Staats and Torrance, 35 points, against Urmston and Woodbury, 55 points, kendall and Jones, 47 points, against Webb and Mills, 39 points; Walker and Prosser, 36 points, against Ford and Keppler, 48 points; Carter and Rogers, 56 points, against Swannrick and Johnson, 41 points; Hertel and Doty, 55 points, against Cunningham and Uthoff, 37 points, Total number of points; Pasadena 271, Los Angeles 254.

And still the perfect weather continues. To appreciate it properly read each day what sort of climatic vagaries are going on-

Miss Shoemaker and Mr. Batry will be among the Pasadena players who expect to enter the Redondo tennis tournament, which opens July 6.

It looks now as if that Fourth of July-celebration in honor of the completion of the new Villa street reservoir will not be forthcoming. This is strange.

Closing exercises will be held tomorrow afternoon in the chapel of Throop University, beginning at 3 o'clock. Judge Enoch Knight of Los Angeles will deliver an address.

Today Co. B will hold its semi-annual State shoot on the arroyo range. A 'bus will run every hour for the accommodation of those who desire to witness this interest-

The Last of Evangelist Mills's Revival Meetings.

The Congregation at the Closing Service the Largest of the Series-Meetings to Continue in the Churches During the Week.

the leadership of Mr. Mills was held in the evening of Monday in the Methodist Episcopal Church. The church was crowded to the doors, all the aisles being filled with chairs and every seat occupied. Interest in all the services steadily increased from the beginning, and the last beheld the largest congregation of people at any one time present at these remarkable meetings. The song service began soon after 7 o'clock and under the stirring leadership of Mr. Greenwood the following hymns were sung: "Come we that love the Lord," "How sweet, my Savior, to repose, "O troubled heart, there is a home," "Softly and tenderly Jesus is calling." Mrs. Scudder invoked the divine blessing; she prayed especially for those who have just put their names on the cards; that all who hesitate may decide tonich; for the manifestate may decide tonight; for the manifestation of God's grace, truth and power such as has never before been witnessed in this city, where sin has reigned so long.

Rev. Mr. Weitzel announced that services would be continued in all the churches tomorrow evening, Wednesday and Thursday exenings at least, and that a union service would be held in the Methodist Episcopal Church at 3 o'clock next Sunday.

Mr. Mills announced the hymn, 'Hasten, sinners, to be wise,' the congregation risinners, to be wise.'' the congregation risinners. Mr. Mills announced the hymn, "Hasten, sinners, to be wise," the congregation rising. Mr. Greenwood then sang, "It may be the last time." The evangelist's text was from Deuteronomy, first chapter and part of the 19th verse: "And we came to Kadesh-bornea," from which he preached an eloquent and effective sermon, fully up to the standard of the powerful discourses which had preceded it.

At the conclusion of Mr. Mills's address, which was listened to with the closest attention and with every indication of approval, Mr. Weitzel, chairman of the Exgcutive Committee, argse and added a few words. He said we praise God that He has allowed us to take hold of His willingness to save. It was his willingness to do God's work that healed Naaman. It was his faith. He did not go away and boast of his cure, he went back and asked God's servant Elisha to receive a blessing. He attended his thanks to all ministers and people, to Mr. Mills and Mr. Greenwood for their work in Santa Barbara: to the trustees of the Methodist Episcopal Church for the use of their building; the choir and its leader; the ushers: the press and the people; all who in any way assisted; and to the whole people for their attendance. The congregation was then dismissed, every one going past the altar taking Mr. Mills and Mr. Greenwood by the hands in a cordial and friendly way.

In the Superior Court of San Bernardino county, Judge Shaw of Los Angeles presiding, the decision in the case of the San Bernardino Artificial Stone Improvement Company vs. A. B. Wise has been tendered, sustaining the demurrer of the defendant. The trial was brought to force the assessment upon the property of the defendant. ment upon the property of the defendant for the construction of city sewers. The Judge sustained the demurrer on the ground that the resolution of intention to sewer, passed by the City Trustees, does not properly denne the districts and describe properly define the districts and describe the work to be done. Therefore the City Trustees acquired no jurisdiction to order the sewer to be built. The sewers were put in on several streets and there are about 300 cases awalting the outcome of this, the first to be tried. The company has been bankrupted by the outcome, but the case may be continued in some form.

It was a short one as there was but little business of importance to transact, except in regard to the entrance of the Santa Fé into Pomona. The committee having this matter in charge had done but little since the last meeting. Col. F. P. Firey, a member of the committee, had been to Los Angeles to consult with General Manager Wade, but that gentleman was not in the city. A committee of two was appointed to call on Mr. Wade, and ascertain just what would be expected of the city, and to ask him to send engineers to survey the various routes, and then they could determine which was the most, feasible. Col. Firey and Gen. Wasson were appointed to wait on Mr. Wade, and they go to Los Angeles today to see what can be done. ANAHEIM. ANAHEIM,

At an early hour Monday evening the boom of anylis announced to the people far and wide that something of an unusual character was taking place in the city. Some thought it was a rather late acknowledgement of President Harrison's renomination, while others thought it was the prelude to a ratification of Cleveland's nomination at Chicago. But they all came in to see what was going on, and by 8:30 o'clock nearly every business man in the city had assembled in Kroger's Hall, when the question of celebrating the glorious city had assembled in Kroger's Hall, when the question of celebrating the glorious Fourth in a manner such as Anaheim has always been noted for was sprung and quickly decided in the affirmative by unanimous vote. Frank Ey was elected chairman of the meeting and E. J. Peelegrim secretary. A Finance Committee consisting of J. J. Everharty, John Hartung and Frank Steadman and an Executive Committee consisting of H. Cahen, S. S. Federman, A. Rimpau, H. A. Dickel and J. Helmsen were appointed. The Finance Committee started to work-early yesterday morning and soon had over $300 subscribed. It is expected that the City Council will vote a sum toward the celebration, and probably $500 will be raised altogether. All the committees will meet this evening to hear the report of the Finance Committee, when the money and labor will be assigned to the various committees and active work will be commenced to inaugurate the grandest celebration ever held in Orange county. The steamer Hermosa arrived Saturday night with a large number of visitors. It was her first trip of the season and her appearance around Sugar Loaf was the signal for quite a demonstration. Bonfires were lighted along the shore and on the hills, the light from the blazing barrels and boxes lighting up the bay and town. All the fireworks to be obtained on the island were discharged and the stabt. Cannon saluted her as she swung into the bay. The securing of the Hermosa, is regarded with favor by everybody on the island, the impression being that many more will visit the island who would not come in a smaller steamer. Justice Court-The Southern Pacific Notes.

President Allen Manyel of the Sant Fé was interviewed at San Francisco yesterday by an Associated Press reporter, to whom he said: "Our road is not in a condition to go into any new enterprises just now. We are holding enterprises just now. We are holding our own all right, and making money. too, as far as that is concerned, but not in Southern California. The simple truth of the matter is that the owners of the road have never realized a dollar in this State. Of course the territory we traverse is improving and building up right along and there are good prospects for the future, but there is noth ing in it at present. The mere fact that we have made no money in California would not deter us, of course from extending our road to San Fran cisco if that were all that interfered but, as I have said, it seems the part of wisdom for us just now to try and take care of what we have got rather than to branch out further." Mr. Manvel replied in very much the same strain to a question as to the liklihood of a line of ocean steamers being established between Asiatic ports and San Diego, there to connect with the Santa Fé

STORE A NEWS!

Dress Materials.

Be inches wide at 50c.—All-wool Cashmeres; every conceivable color; soft and easy to drape. In the East narrow, jet trimmings are used very much in the trimming of these soft materials. To illustrate: In trimming the Bishop sleeve, for instance, the jet trimming is commenced at the lower part of the cuff and then wound around the sleeve in a regular coil until it reaches the end of the cuff. Yards and vards are used on a single garment. yards are used on a single garment.

20 inches wide at 49c .- All-woo 20 inches wide at 49c.—All-wool Cheviot; wear-resisting and permanent. No better material for a dress to be used in rough and tumble. In these materials, as a usual thing, they are made up plainly with the exception of a tiny silk gadoon in the very narrowest width. This adds considerable tone to the general appearance, and the cost is but trifling, say 5c or 8c a yard.

44 inches wide at 75c.—All-wool Storm Serges. This material is on the 46 inches wide at 75c.—All-wool Imported Serge. It wears well, looks nice, and with the aid of some of the new galoon trimmings, or even self-trimmed, makes a handsome suit. The price is right.

40 inches wide at 65c.-Black allwool Henrietta with a bright, glossy surface, such as prevents the dust from creeping in, is an item for your consideration. We have always thought that customers desiring few dresses should certainly purchase a Henrietta as one of them, by reason of the body of the property of the pro them, by reason of its being suitable for any dress occasion.

40 inches wide at 50c.—Black Brilliantines. Some call these Iron Brilliantines, which name has followed it for many seasons on account of its durability. They are lustrous and wear resisting, and trimmed with jet, as they are now being worn in all the eastern centers, they make the handsomest suit that is nossible to imprime. that is possible to imagine.

40 inches wide at 75c.—Black French Serge for mourning or for a dress which you desire to trim with silk, wis is the proper material. We have them in blue black, jet black and dead black, and a number of different twills. There is no end to the variety of serges at this price.

Silks.

24 and 27 inches wide at 98c. Printed India Silks. This material has been so much indemand that it is next been so much in demand that it is next to impossible for our buyers to procure what we should term pretty patterns. There are always large, unsightly wall-paper designs to be had cheap enough, Natural Pongee Silks. These are all but the neat patterns, such as violet dehand-loom and wear is assured. They signs, clover designs, chrysanthemum designs, in gray, tan and light-shaded grounds have been extremely rare. signs, clover designs, chrysanthemum designs, in gray, tan and light-shaded grounds have been extremely rare. This is a class of goods that we desire to call your attention to today.

At 50c.—Plain-colored China Silks.
These are the real Punjab Chinas. We have every color in stock. They are the best possible value for the money; Nothing better can be sold. We should be pleased to have you see them.

Domestics.

At 50c.—Turkey Red Table Damask, specially recommended for lunch or even breakfast cloths. This material is oil-boiled and not easily soiled, and therefore desirable in families.

32 inches wide at 20c.—Crinkled Secreuckers. It is the old-fashioned crinkle revived this season. We have them in a variety of colors and different width stripes. It seems to us they are as attractive as ever.

At 8%c.—We show the Bedford Cords; they are called Carmencita, and from the manner they are dancing out of our partment we think them well name.

The demand has been great. At 1.2%c.—French Dress Ginghams. They are not imported French ginghams; they are termed French ging-

At 121:0.—New Crepe Cloths, double, fold, light colors. This material has superseded the old cheese cloths when patrons desire better grades and better shades.

At 121:0.—New Crepe Cloths, double, hams by reason of their being exact copies of the real Frenchman, worth 25c a yard. This material is worth 18c a yard, and would still eat that price had not our American brethren made an over supply. We get them cheap and offer them likewise.

At 12%c.—Infants' seamless Black Hose; worth much more; a fact you will recognize upon seeing them.

At 35c .- Ladies' Fast Black Hose. An elegant fine gauge, silky, soft pliable stocking; one that is well w a half-dollar, we are quite certain.

At 20c.—Children's Colored Hose. Fast colors, and a saving of just one nickel on a pair from what you get them elsewhere.

Ladies' Furnishings

At $5.25—Silk Shirt Waists made in Norfolk style in all the desirable colors, including cream. These waists are made of imported silk surah, stitched entirely with silk.

At $1.50.—Ladies' Black Sateen Shirt

Todd,

The only witness examined was the complainant, Herman Zuber, who testified to the effect that defendant, Gibbs. complainant, Herman Zuber, who testified to the effect that defendant, Gibbs, on December 14, 1889, represented to him that a wealthy Scotchman named Donald McKay, who resided at Hollywood, had recently purchased from him 160 acres of land in the SW¼ of sec. SO, T. S. S., R. 11 W., for a certain sum, part of which had been paid down, the balance, amounting to $4000, being payable in equal sums in one, two and three years. In order to secure these payments he (Gibbs) had accepted three notes, secured by a mortgage on the land in question, from McKay; but none of the notes being due for a long time and he being in immediate need of money, he offered to dispose of the notes and mortgage to Zuber for $1000. After some dickering Zuber accepted the offer and, at Gibbs's request, gave him a check for $500, took up a $360 note for him, paid him some cash and retained the balance "in case McKay failed to pay the taxes." He subsequently learned that no such person as Donald McKay existed and that Gibbs never owned the land he pretended to convey to that mythical individual, whereupon McKay existed and that Gibbs never owned the land he pretended to convey to that mythical individual, whereupon he placed the matter in the hands of the grand jury and Gibbs was indicted. The witness was cross-examined at great length by counsel for the defeadant, but j was not shaken on any material point, and at the close of his testimony the case went over until this morning.

THE CORONADO CONDEMNATION SUIT The trial of the condemnation suit in

The Condana Condemnation suit instituted by the United States against the Coronado Beach Company et all. for secure an eighteen-acre tract of land for jetty purposes, was concluded before Judge Ross and a jury in the United States District Court yesterday.

After J. A. Flint and Capt. Dill had been called for the defense it rested its case, but recalled E. S. Babcock, Jr., by consent. The Government then had its innings, and the following witnesses were called for the purpose of showing that the land in controversy was not worth more than $400 per acre, and that the eighteen-acre tract would not be damaged by the proposed jetty: W. H. H. Benyard, Chalmers Scott, G. Geddes, F. Choate, Rudolf Axman, T. J. Darlie, J. A. Kelpenstein, H. T. Chisholm, H. M. Stanton, E. Dorman and J. Walmer. Both sides then closed, and the matter was argued pro and con until 4:10 o'clock, at which hour the Court continued the matter until 10:30 o'clock this morning, when it will be submitted to the jury.

KORESH TEED.

The Fraud Now Posing as a Victim of Malice. It will be remembered that Koresh Teed, who lectured in this city some months ago, while on his way east, has recently been arrested in Chicago for his immoral practices in that city. The fellow is now posing as a "victim of malice," as will be seen by the following special dispatch from Chicago to the San Francisco Chronicle.

of malice," as will be seen by the following special dispatch from Chicago to the San Francisco Chronicle.

Koresh Cyrus H. Teed made his first public appearance on the Chicago lecture platform tonight before the People's Debating Society. "The sole secret of the attacks upon me," he said, "is that I oppose degenerate Christianity. They began in a little church in New York, of which I was a member, and have grown into the wholesale falsifications of the present time. All of this bosh about breaking up homes is the rankest monesuse. It is said I broke up Cole's home. Cole and his wife quarreled for seven years before I knew her. Finally he left her. That was before I knew her. Yet péople say I break up homes."

In further support of his position Teed called attention to an article in the last copy of the Flaming Sword, which had been freely distributed among the audience. In that article he entered upon what he called a littic personal history.

He told how in 1870, after devoting many weeks to an investigation of the chemico-electrical service, he made a discovery of certain principles in physics which comprised the foundation of a radical revolution in religious and scientific convictions. That discovery became the basis of his subsequent religious formula. No sooner had he promulgated his theory than the church turned against him. His name became a synonym of everything that was corrupt.

"Hypocritical and bigoted clergy, a villifying, slanderous, lying press, accommunity wrapped up in the guise of moral rectitude, but rotten to the core with degenerating influences, impulsed by the additional stimuli of fusel off, nicotine and glutiony, have conspired, "he said, "to destroy the reputation of one who has never entertained a thought in opposition to the universal happiness of the human race, whose life has been a perpetual sacrifice to its end. Individual appeals for a candid hearing of our case have been made to clergymen and publishers without avail. Columns have been devoted to our villification, but not on Detective Benson was allowed a reward of $20 for the capture of a horse-thief named J. W. Robinson.

John Robinson asked to be appointed dog catcher and also petitioned the board to be appointed a special officer with full salary. Some of the members thought that the Kennel Club should be consulted in the matter, and the appointment of a dog catcher was postponed for one week.

SILVER WEDDING.
Mr. and Mrs. George W. Lawrence of No. 1015 West Seventh street celebrated their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary last Monday evening by giving a charming reception, to which some 200 invi-tations were extended, including many friends and relatives in the East. The guests began to assemble at 8 o'clock, and were admitted by the pretty little brunette drughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence, who ushered them into a hall aglow with colored lights and fragrant with the perfume of flowers. In the reception-room at the right stood the bride and groom of twenty-five years ago, Mrs. Lawrence in her wedding gown, a soft silk of Quaker drab made with the plain trained skirt then in vogue and now so popular, the low-cut corsage filled in with filmy lace and the flowing sleeves falling away from under-sleeves of the same delicate texture. She held in her hand a bride's bouquet of white carnations, and beside stood her husband. The room was decorated with bride roses, mingled with street. A lengthy protest was presented and the petition was ordered filed as ferns and smilax. A gift specially prized by Mr. Lawrence was a magnificent trowel-shaped ice cream knife sent him by his brothers of the Masonic fraternity in Canton, O., his old home. It bore the inscription: "Eagle Lodge, No. 431, F. and A. M." In a room opposite the reception-room the guests gathered for cosy chats and in the dining-room beyond, separated from this by Japanese portieres, were spread tete-a-tete tables, where refreshments were served by a cotterio of fair young girls, their leader being the daughter of the house, Miss Alma Lawrence, who looked charming in a quaint white-grenadine gown embroidered in colors, which formed a part of the bridal trousseau twenty-five years ago. HAWAIIAN AFFAIRS.

Attack on United States Minister Stephens.

A Scheme Laid by the English-German Faction.

A Strong Counter-current of Sentiment Aroused.

Action Rescinded and the Proceedings Expunged-Inside Points About the Recent Treason Plot-The Queen in it.

Hoxolulu, June 7 .- [Special correspondence of The Times. The unexpected always happens in Honolulu. On June 2, at the morning session of the Hawaiian Legislature a preconcerted attack was made upon the United States Minister to Hawaii, Hon. J. L. Stevens, by Noble E. C. Macfarlane, leader of the anti-American faction in the house, and Samuel Parker, Minister of Foreign Affairs. The attack upon Mr. Stevens was clearly made for political purposes, and the pretext therefor was found in alleged innuendoes said to be hidden in the oration delivered by Mr. Stevens on Decoration day. Near the close of the morning session Noble Macfarlane suddenly arose and asked the Minister of Foreign Affairs "whether they intend taking any steps to rebuke the unwarrantable action of the United States Minister on a recent public occasion? An action which could only be intended to interfere with and obstruct the administration." Twenty-four hours is always allowed a cabinet minister here in which to prepare and submit his answer, but in this case Minsubmit his answer, but in this case Min-ister Parker had his all cut and dried, took it from his pocket and read as fol-lows: "In answer to the question pro-pounded by the honorable noble for Honolulu, E. C. Macfarlane, I would say that Her Majesty's government has given the matter careful consideration, already taken action in the

THE TRUE INWARDNESS.

Considerable excitement was created among American residents until the true inwardness of the scheme began eropping out. Mr. Macfarlane is an Englishman who has shown decided englishman who has shown decided anti-American tendencies in Hawaiian politics during the past three years, or since the National Reform party came into existence. This party is now a remnant in the house representing the English-German political combine or faction, under Mr. Macfarlane's leadership. This faction at present controls the Queen in a great measure, and the Cabinent entirely, and is playing a deservate group the character of the control of the controls the capacitate of the control of th perate game to so shape political mat-ters, as to control the new Cabinet, which the mistakes and unpopularity of the present Government, seem to have made a near political necessity. A new Cabinet from either the native Hawaiian caoinet from either the native nawaiian.
or American side of the Legislature, or a combination Cabinet from both these, would be a death blow to the hopes of political preferment entertained by the Macfarlane faction. An attack, therefore, on the Americans in general, for the alleged interference in Hawaiian affairs by their National Representative, was believed to be the only feasible way in which a speedy native prejudice and that of the Queen, could be raised against the American party here, and American influence in Hawaiian politics and government.

THE UNEXPECTED EFFECT.

The effect of the scheme on the public mind and the political feeling of the Legislature proved, however, quite contrary to that expected, and during the remainder of the day the Macfarlane faction and the Minister of Foreign Affairs were kept busy by indignant ques-tioners trying to force a justification for their acts into the words uttered by the United States Minister in his oration upon Decoration day. The following day the pressure became so steady and eppressive that Mr. Macfarlans felt constrained to arise to a question of privilege in the house by explaining to an unsympathetic audience that he was a great admirer of America and the Americans, but in this instance the American Minister did not represent the American people and had interfered in Hawaiian affairs "at the instance of a faction in this community, whose organ is the Advertiser, whose leaders are ex-Ministers of Hawaii, who, like the followers of Moses, are longing for the flesh pots of Egypt, and whose purpose seems to be rule or ruin." This explan-ation, however, only made matters for the schemers, as the public were fully aware the Advertiser is the only newspaper here representing American interests and that the "lead rs" and "ex-ministers" mentioned are those of the Reform or American party.

fact is, an examination of Mr Stevens's oration shows no reference whatever to Hawaiian affairs; and it is now known that the oration was written long before any of the acts of the pres-ent Hawaiian Cabinet (the arrest of conspirators, etc.,) were committed, to which it is alleged Mr. Stevens's words referred.

A DIPLOMATIC NOTE.

Considerable speculation has been in-dulged in as to what action had been taken by the Cabinet in the premises referred to by Minister Parker, and not until the next day was it discovered that the Minister of Foreign Affairs had addressed the United States Minister a very polite note, which was not half so savage as the Macfarlane-Parker dia-logue in the Legislature had led people to expect it would be.

MR. STEVEN'S COURSE.

The course of the American Minister throughout this discourteous political farce has been dignified and reserved. He has treated it with a polite consider-ation it hardly deserves, and with much more forbearance than it has received at the hands of all classes of citizens, with the exception of the small politi cal faction which has given support to

THE DENOUEMENT.

During Monday morning. June 6, the United States Minister's note in reply to Minister Parker was received at the Foreign Office, and during the morning session of the House the "unexpected" again happened, this time to the Cabinet faction. Representative Kommunication.

again happened, this time to the Cabinet faction. Representative Kamauoha introduced the following resolution:

Wheneas, the Hon. E. C. Macfarlane has, before this House, charged the United States Munister with "unwarrantable action on a recent public occasion"—"action which could only be intended to interfere with and obstruct the administration,," without naming the occasion or defining the action referred to:

And whereas, there has heretofore been no opportunity for this House to express its opinion on this subject:

Now, therefore, be it resolved that it is the sentiment of this House that such language and action of the Hon. E. C. Macfarlane concerning the Minister Resident of a friendly foreign government is entirely uncalled for and without justification by any facts which have been presented to this House;

And be it further resolved that all mintres relating to this matter be expanged from the records of this House.

Strenuous efforts were made by the Cabinet and the English German faction to delay action or to have the resolution referred to the Committee on Foreign Afairs, of which Mr. Macfarlane is chairman, but after thorough debate the amendment to refer was lost on a division of 18 ayes to 38 noes, and the resolution to expunge was immediately adopted on a standing vote. In this vote the Native party, with two exceptions, joined with the Reform party, chiefly composed of Americans, and publicly rebuked those who, for personal and political ends, had attempted to rebuke the United States Minister for an alleged interference in Hawaiian affairs which he had not committed nor even contemplated. mitted nor even contemplated.

THE TREASON TRIAL. The preliminary trial of the arrested conspirators is progressing slowly After an able argument by Judge Hart-well for the seventeen defendants, on a motion for discharge made when the prosecution rested, Justice Dole denied the motion and decided that under the Hawaiian statute plotting was an overt act of treason. The judge, however, discharged five of the defendants, all native Hawaiians, because of lack of evidence. The preliminary defense is now being but in, and the witnesses for the crown it is understood will be spe-cifically impeached. In fact the testi-mony for the defense has already made some startling developments, and more are promised when Wilcox's defense shall be introduced. The evidence during the first afternoon went with great directness to show that the Queen has had a royal hand in this particular game of conspiracy from its beginning.

THE QUEEN'S GAME. Rumors to the effect that Her Majesty had been dabbling in conspiracy, after her old manner, have been affoat for her old manner, have been affoat for some time, and have caused considerable change in public feeling in consequence. Since the treason trial has developed direct evidence on this point it is now generally believed that a few months ago when the palace was barricaded with sand bags, the Queen and Wilcox had conspired to raise a revolution, in which Wilcox was to take charge of the government, arms and soldiers and, with the aid of the native Hawaiian party, reseat the Queen on Hawaiian party, reseat the Queen on the throne under a "new constitution" which would restore to the crown the absolute power taken from the late King by the revolution of 1887.

MARSHAL WILSON'S GAME. This scheme was checkmated by Wil on, the half-caste marshal of the kingdom, who did not wish to be supplanted in the Queen's favor by Wilcox, a former favorite. Wilcox had foolishly demanded Wilson's removal before action, which the Queen refused to grant. Then followed Wilson's coup de main for the removal of all possible rivals in the Queen's favor; by arresting all the leaders of the native party to which Wilcox belonged and to which the Queen looked for support in regaining absolute power, where the natives themselves only contemplated the establishment of equal rights, first, under the Queen. who did not wish to be supplante equal rights, first, under the Queen, and, as a last resort, in the form of a republic. Had Wilson succeeded in carrying out his original plan marshal law would have been declared, the town would have been declared, the town searched for arms and the leading men of the revolution of 1887, as well as Ashford and Wilcox, would have been seized and deported. With such facts as these becoming daily known it is hardly probable the men now being tried for treason will ultimately be consisted areas though the arrangements. victed, even though the preliminary

LATER—The defense closed this afternoon, and at the close of the rebuttal by the crown Judge Hartwell moved for a discharge of defendants on the mer-its. Argument will be heard on the motion tomorrow. It is believed the remaining defendants will be held for trial. The defense holds there are rea onable grounds for a discharge.

The Hawaiian Evangelical Association met in Honolulu June 5 and will

The occasion was the completion of twenty years' service as musical director. Both Mr. Berger and the band are very popular in Honolulu, and a proposition has already been made to send them to the World's Fair as a portion of the Haraiian exhibit.

The dispatch lately sent from Honolulu by the Associated Press correspondent to the effect that the question of annexation would come before the present Hawaiian Legislature is entirely without foundation. The annexation feeling is gradually becoming wider and deeper in Hawaii, but is hardly ripe for popular action yet, and such statements only do the proposition harm here. There is little doubt, however, that time will make the introduction of the ques-tion feasible before the Legislature of 1894 assembles to consider national Irrigation of Great Areas the Chief Factor of Difference.

Observer Dunn Thinks Little of the Guif Stream Theory.

He Says if New Mexico, Arizona and Texa are Irrigated We May Have Out Old Enjoyable Eastern Seasons.

[E. B. Dunn, in New York World.] There seems but little doubt that our climate is undergoing a change. For ten years the seasons have blended so gradually that no definite line has marked the outgoing of one or the in-coming of the other. The winters, if we may call them such, have been mild tions; while our summers, that for merly sent joy to our seashore and country resorts, now stand as bistory and leave a sad remembrance of "what might have been" had not the seasons

Numerous theories have been ad vanced to show a reason for the change. Some are without foundation, others have many plausible phases. The oldest inhabitants, looking back over their boyhood days, tell us that they can bring to mind cold winters and great snowstorms covering a period of months, when the bare ground could not be seen and the sleigh bells jingled from November to March. All these old fellows declare that certainly the old fellows declare that certainly the climate is changing.

There are strong adherents to the claim that the Gulf Stream pressing nearer to our shores has caused the difference in our climate. They say that if the Gulf Stream didn't warm up the British Isles they would be as cold as Greenland. This is very doubtful, according to scientific investigations made by M. J. Thoulet. His researches prove that when the stream reaches the vicinity of Newfoundland the depth and volume are no longer sufficient to exert any material action on the climate. This indicates that the old theory of the Gulf Stream being the only cause of the mild climate of the British Isles (if these investigations be correct) must be disinvestigations be correct) must be discarded and the real cause sought else

This theory can, in no sense, apply to the change in our climate for the reason that as yet we have no tangible proof that the Gulf Stream has changed its gourse, and if it has, it could not, in any sense, affect the climate of this country. Its waters may literally wash our shores, and yet the change would not be perceptible even in the coast States. For all storms and atmospheric phenomena pass from west to east. phenomena pass from west to east. And the prevailing direction of the wind being from off shore, the winds would necessarily carry any change that might occur into the ocean.

Again, the rotation of the earth is a most important factor to prevent most important factor to prevent weather conditions traveling to the westward. These facts alone are snmcient to dispel the Gulf Stream theory Furthermore, the change in climate, has not been of local nature, but has been as great or greater in the central valleys and extreme West as in this vicinity. Even the Southern States have, and are still undergoing, considerable change. They no longer have their able change. They no longer have their mild winters as in former years. High pressure areas have followed each other in rapid succession into that vicinity and caused the temperature to remain and caused the temperature to remain-below the freezing point for periods equal in duration to some of the more Northerly States.

In all the years since 1885, with but one exception, the climate in this vicinity has become gradually warmer. The following figures from the records, of the Weather Bureau prove this. The annual mean temperatures show the total amount of heat received, and are best calculated to make the case plain, and are moreover trustworthy:

The most remarkable feature as shown in this excess of heat lies in the and winter months, while the summer months were cooler than the awerage. Many days of December, January and February have been warmer than a great many in June, July and August. This has been so frequent as to cause general comment.

general comment. The cause for such a change is not easy to trace, and all theories and the ductions advanced to solve the proble in can only be verified by a long scries of observations covering a number of years. It is necessary to start from the birthplace of storms that cross our country. The climate of some particular place must be determined by the number of storms and the passage of the storm center to the north and south of it. If the storm center nesses to the of it. If the storm center passes to the north of this city, for instance, the warm southerly winds flow to the northward over us, but should the center pass to the south the cold northerly winds would rush toward the center and winds would rush toward the center and consequently give—us colder weather. The winds from all sides continue to the flow toward the storm center to fill the vacuum, and as they do so they blow spirally inward and upward, according to the movements of the hands of a watch. The winds from an area of high pressure have a diametrically opposite movement and are thrown off from the center, thus producing the colder weather when the center is to the north of the given place, and warmer weather when soult of it.

The prevailing conditions depend on the center is to the north of the given place, and warmer weather when soult of it.

in passing as well as their frequency. Therefore, as the effect is apparent and well established, we must trace these disturbances to their birthplace to locate any change in their development or course. If we can assign any reason or show a cause why they should take a different course across the country than traceled in previous wears, it is one step.

different course across the country than traveled in previous years, it is one step nearer to solving the problem.

The storms that cross this country, or the majority of them, develop in the extreme northwest, beyond the limits of our country, or pass in from the North Pacific Ocean. Others, again, develop in the extreme southwest or come in from the South Pacific. Very few cross directly over the central mountain districts. The storms that move across the mountain range, by the time they reach the eastern side, are almost entirely without precipitation. All the moisture they start with (which must reach the eastern side, are almost entirely without precipitation. All the moisture they start with (which must be considerable to give them energy enough to cross the mountains at all) has been deposited on the west side, in consequence of the warm moist air meeting with the colder upper currents. For the winds are forced to a much greater height than would otherwise be the case. Therefore, by the time they reach the east side of the mountain they are dry. This accounts for the they are dry. This accounts for the arid lands of the West. In nine out of every ten storms I find the movement of the storm centers toward the centra plains on the east slope of the Rocky Mountain, whether they come from the northwest or southwest. They linger in that neighborhood, apparently with but little energy at first. Finally they develop and take a northeasterly course across the country.
Storms, like a current of electricity, follow a course of the least atmos-pheric resistance. Of this we are fully aware. Then why should most of the disturbances move into and over a country where the air is dry and the greatest possible resistance is encountered, instead of moving off in a natural path? Because the land that was onge an arid desert is today skillfully manipulated in a scientific way, so that 4,300,000 acres of land in Colorado, A, SUO, OUO acres of land in Colorado, Nebraska, Wyoming and Utah are under a state of cultivation by artificial means. Irrigation has done for the central plains what nature has failed to do. It is this great spreading of water over such a vast territory—this putting of an oasis in the desert—that has been the attraction to draw and has been the attraction to draw and assist in the development of storms in that vicinity. Thus they have been brought from a southerly into a more northerly course, leaving the great lakes the next nourishing place in a natural course. Thus the storm cen-ters that in former years passed east-ward over the Central or Southern ward over the Central or Southern States and then up the Atlantic, find a much easier course over the lakes and down the St. Lawrence Valley. The high pressure areas then sweep to the south behind the storm, causing treathers. "northers" in Texas and colder weathe "northers" in Texas and colder weather during the winter months in all the Southern States. What remains of such cold waves after the centers of high pressure get to a position where we can get that portion of the wave which is due us is hardly perceptible. I cite, for instance, the year 1889, where twenty-nine storms crossed the country, twenty-eight of which passed to the north of this city and but one to the south. This of itself accounts for the south. This of itself accounts for our warm winter of that year.

Now, we ask, is this state of affairs to be permanent? I am inclined to believe that if the theory advanced is correct and is really the cause of the change—and it seems in every way plausible—then the change has come to plausible—then the change has come to stay, so long as New Mexico, Arizona and Texas are left without irrigation. Just so soon as these States are irri-gated the istorms that come in or develop in the Southwest will follow a course more toward the nearest water course, which is the Gulf of Mexico, thence across the Gulf or Southern States and off the Atlantic coast, draw. ing down the cold wave as in former years, and bringing our climate into its natural seasons.

[California Fruit Grower.] In reply to a request from a valued correspondent at Cupertino, we give the following directions for sprouting orange seed: Secure the seed as fresh as possible from seedling orange's (the Tahiti orange is probably the best.) Prepare the ground well by deep plowing or spading, then make small drills with the point of a hoe an inch and a half deep, and as far apart as convenient, considering the space to be occupied—from eight to twelve inches. Drop the seed from the hand, say an inch apart, so nearly as may be, and cover to the depth of about an inch and a half-simply fill up the drill—press the spill simply fill up the drill—press the spillightly on the seed and keep moist. 1630 Shares at $100 Each, In Installments of $5.00 per Month Without Interest.

Not a Land, Distribution, but An Investment of Money! Each share will earn 5 per cent. per month on each $100 for five years from the date of the first subscription and has the best real estate security. 13 Books of subscription to be opened Saturday, June 18.

ixteen hundred and thirty shares at $100 each will buy the Fowler Ranch of 6520 acres with the present improvements and the prospective improvements to be made by the present owners at a cost to them of $30,000. This splendid property is situated on the border line of Tulare and Kern counties, four miles west of the Valley Road of the Southern Pagific Railroad, and four miles north of the branch line to the oil wells, and twelve miles west of the present line to San Francisco. A survey of the Santa Fe line has been made through the western portion of this tract.

The best fruit and vine land in the State. In the heart of the artesian belt. To be subdivided into 40-acre tracts, including a town site, with artesian wells and an irrigating canal of twelve miles, broad avenues with trees, and water for conveyance to each subdivision. These improvements to be paid for by the present owners, and are included in the contract of sale to this company. For these improvements $30,000 is set aside. Title perfect and undoubted.

Prospectus.

We are soliciting subscriptions for shares in an incorporation to be organized for the prose of buying from the present owners the Fowler Ranch, containing 689 acres, situpurpose of buying from the present owners the Fowler Ranch, containing 632 acres, situate on the border line of fuliare and Kern counties, for $55 per acre, with its present improvements and with $30,000 of improvements to be made by the owners and included in the price of $55 per acre, as stated This is not a land distribution, but an investment of money, with return of money and profits, by dividing the tract into 40 acre subdivisous, and after the improvements are made, selling at a future period at $100 or roor per acre. There will be 1630 shares in the corporation at $100 each, to be paid for in $1 monthly installments without interest. Ou the sixth payment the subscribers will incurporate, will elect their officers, and the trustee they may appoint will receive a deed for $500 acres, in escrow, clear of all incumbrances, with the certificate of title attached of the Abstract and Title insurance Company of Los Angeles, to be delivered to the corporation, when the purchase money is paid. The $30,000 proposed improvements guaranteed by a deposit in bank of that amount, to be paid out to the contractors on certified vouchers, as they progress with the work

Description of the Property.

The land is a rich, black loam, and is known as the Fowler Ranch. It was purchased many years ago by the late Senator Tom Fowler of Tulare, when he had the opportunity of obtaining the cream of Tulare and Kern counties. It is in the center of the artesian fruit; and alfalfa belt; has upon it now a sample artesian well flowing 600,000 gallons, and is in the unmediate vicinity of the largest flowing wells in the State.

The Present Price and What the Investment Will Pay

The Present Price and What the Investment Will Pay.

The low rate of the purchase, 820 per acre, with all the present and the projected improve gents herein recited, made and paid for by the present owners, at a cost of 830,000, enables us to guarantee at the lowest rate of sale in the future, say $100 per acre within five yelrs, an interest of 5 per cent a month on each share of $100 from the date of snb script ion. This is no exaggerated statement, but is borne out by the plain figures submitted, and also accords with the opinion and unbiased judgment of the best experts in South ern and Northern California.

Improvements Already Made and To Be Made. This tract has one section aiready fenced, a colony house, the present flowing well, large it servoir, etc. The improvements to be made by the present owners will consist of an irrigating canal of 12 miles, six more artesian wells as feeders, survey and division into 40-acre tracts, survey and laying out of the town of Colonna, broad avenues through the entire irroperty planted with trees, etc., etc.

How Improvements are Guaranteed to Stockholders.

$30,00 D of the purchase money will not be paid over to the present owners, but will be set aside for the improvements stated, and deposited daily, in proportion to the subscriptions, in the name of the "Columbia Colony Improvement Fund," to be drawn from bank on certifing the vouchers given to the contractors as they proceed with the improvements. In reg and to the necessity for a town site upon this tract, every one will admit that a colony on bracing 100 farms will demand and build up a prosperous town. The estimated price of o he-quarter acre lots. $50 each, will doubties be tare exceeded as asles are made. For this purpose 250 acres will be surveyed and laid out in one-quarter acre lots.

Topography of the Tract.

The whole tract of 6520 acres is level, not a hill upon it; the fall of the land is sumcient for draiming and admirably adapted for the conveyance of water by canal, as there is nothing to obstruct its course. How i he 5 per cent. per Month on Each $100 is to be Earned for the Five Years.

Many vell-known citizens thoroughly versed in the capabilities of lands in Southern California double the estimate that we here set forth of $100 per acre within five years, and assert; that at the end of that time the splender body of and, improved as proposed, with water conveyed to each sufficient on the contract of each set will come rectify on the country of the country of

Sales of 880 town lots of one-quarter acre each...... 44,000 00

$674,000 00 This would leave a surplus of $22,000 after paying the interest of 5 per cent. per month. This surplus would meet all expenses for the full term; salary of superintendent, taxes, expenses attending sales and any extra improvements that the trusters might deem

Upon What the Estimate of $100 per Acre is Founded,

This calculation is founded on only one half the results heretofore attained by others in the improvement and sale of large tracts of land in Tulare, Kern and other counties. The grand water system of Haggin. Tevis & Carri is at the head. Mosses. Page and Morton's Artesian Fruit hears on and today it is selling for from $150 to $550 per acre. Georgical and the selling for the selling at $150 per acre. Georgical and the selling selling at $150 per acre and present sage, and now, with the introduction of water, etc., it is selling at $150 per acre and upward. We could point to a number of other enterprises in Los Angeles, Kern. Tulare and Fresne-counties from which the projectors are reaping a still larger reward for their perseverence, energy and ability in handling large tracts.

Opinions of Prominent Citizens,

This prospectus, before publication, was submitted to several conservative and prominent citizens of Los Anegles. They all, without an exception, placed the sales of this property at the end of five years at far more than our estimate of $500 per act, thus giving each shareholder a larger interest than 5 per cent. per month on his investment.

Expert Statement of the Value of the Property.

Messrs. Easton & Eldridge of San Francisco, so well known for twenty years past and at the present time as a prominent and reliable real estate firm, say over their own signature, in staing the value of the Fowler ranch, as follows:

"There is no land in the State with the possibilities of this tract. The soil is a very rich, black alluvial loam, mixed with vegetable mold, in character similar to that on Union and Roberts's Islands in the San Joaquia River, near Stockton, and equally capable of producing lifty to seventy-five bushels of grain to the acre."

As fruit and vineyard land it has no superior. Prunes, figs, pears, fruit of every kind and grapes of the finest varieties can be grown with a wonderful product to the acre. It is also particularly adapted to the raisin grape. The climate is usequaled. Being ten miles south of Tulare Lake and ninety for above it, it has cool and refreshing nights at all seasons, and no intense heat in the sum. T. The present owners have had seventy men employed on the property at one time, 1.1 no case of even ordinary sickness occurred during the whole period.

Placed Before the Public for Investment.

The Southern California Land Company of Los Angeles now places this tract before the public and strongly recommends it for the investment of large or of small amounts. This company has conducted in the past sevel years many large successful land deals in Los Angeles. Its record is without reproach, and its references include the leading citizens of Southern California. Its clients have numbered hundreds of investors in the Childs' tract. Urmston tract. City Center tract, etc. Its dealings have amounted to hundreds of thousands of dollars and it stands today one of the most popular firms in this section of the state.

To be Incorporated.

The certificate holders will meet, after due notice has been given to incorporate under the name of the Columbia Colony, and elect their own president, trustees, and other officers. The corporation will also receive a deed of the property, to be placed is excrew, until payment is made, with abstract and insurance of title, and can appoint a superintendent to reside on the land and oversee the improvements as they be placed is superintendent to reside on the land and oversee the improvements as they appoint a superintendent to reside on the land and oversee the improvements as they progress.

There will be no assessments on the certificates. The trustees will decide, subject to the approval of the stockholders, as to the time for the sale of the subdivisions and the dividends to the stockholders. The incorporation will be a perfect security to investors as it will be governed by the laws of the State of California. Improvements will be commenced by the present owners and continued to completion under thoroughly competent engineer, surveyors and contractors. Certificates will be issued to subscribers and receipts given on each monthly payment. These certificates will be negotiable by indorsement, and will be transferable upon the books of the company.

The title to the property will pass complete as in the manner of our former homestead tracts, it will be given free and clear from all incumbrances and with the abstract and certificate of the Abstract and title Insurance Company of Los Angeles. The same care in regard to this and all essential points and guarantees will be exercised by the Southern California Land Company, that has, without an exception, marked all its dealings with the public. The Title With Certificate of the Abstract and Title Insurance Company of Los Angeles

An Interest of Five per cent. per Month Must Arrest Attention,

An investment with perfect security and earning 5 per cent. per month on each $100 are for a term of five years from the date of the first payment of $8, must arrest the attition of every one. It will also be borne in mind that should the stockholders elect to list $100 an acre within, say two years and a half, half of the time that we here propose. Her investment will net them 10 per sent, per month for that period.

Increase in the Value of Certificates and Their Sale

Another point well worth consideration for those who may desire to sell their certificate is at any time after subscribing, there is a positive assurance, had from former expert the in first-class enterprises like this, that on the subscription being closed the certified the becomes marketable and continues to increase in value so that a fair profit at any time may be had by its sale.

The is is not a land distribution, but an investment of money with return of money and intereque. Building associations and savings banks are all founded on real estate security and pay from 5 to 8 per cent. per year. Here you have not only the best real estate security but you trainvestment also earns 5 per cent per month, and at the same time you own your ow n proportion of the land, 4 acres to each share, until it is sold by your own trustees, and then you have your division of profits.

Subsci iptions received for this splendid property at the office of this company, 200 North Mal p street, adjoining First National Bank. The payments will be 35 at the time of subscribing and 35 per month thereafter, without interest, until the twenty payments are made in terest will be allowed on payments in a le in advance and the information required will be promptly answered by mail or personally at our office. Los Angeles county—Lancaster: Grain harvest has commenced: shipments will be earlier this season than last year on account of a greater number of machines being in operation. Los Angeles city: Cool weather with foggy mornings prevailed. The temperature ranged 7° daily below the averages; the highest was 75°, lowest 48°. Duarte: Apricots are ripening and Blackberries have been in the market the 'past week. All kinds of fruits are looking well. Highest temperature 84°, lowest 47°. Covina: The weather has been 6000 and pleasant, with fogs on two mornings. The blackberry harvest is in full blast and the second crop of strawberries are just coming in; apricots are ripening; the third crop of alfalfa is being cut; the barley harvest is nearly over and hay its all cut. Pomona: Apricots are ripening; and the second crop of strawberries is coming into market, also choice cherries grown in this valley. Prane, apricot and pez ch crops up to the average and quality ab ove the average; prices offered, $20 per ton upward. San Bernardino county—On tario: Fruit is developing rapidly and app. focts will be ready for canning in about two weeks. The weather has been favarable; for haying. Ohino: Fruit on the tre's indicates a heavy crop. Sugar beets are growing finely and the first plantings are about ready to harvest. Redlands: Apricots are ripening rapidly and dryirig will begin the coming week. The crop is below the average but the fruit is large and firm. The weather for the past two weeks has been very cool, the temperature has been two degrees below the kayerage of the past eleven years; bad weather for grapes but favorable, for young or ages.

Orange county—Analeim: There were no material changes fompared with last week's report. Apriots are in market. Tustin: Apricots are beginning to ripen and the crop will be harge; peaches good; prunes light. Grain is being cut, with wide yariations as to yleid; b

SHE DIDN'T GO 7/0 THE POORHOUSE.

A Merciful Father Kindly Provided Her with a Better Home. [Mrs. M.L. Rayne in the Detroit Free Press.] The county-house wagon drew up at the old farmhouse door in the early morning light and the poor overseer got out and knocked on the door with the butt end of his whip.

mother was goin' to the poorhouse it 'ud break his heart."

"'Ar' ye ready, mother?' asked the man, gently.

"Yes, I be. I ain't slept since I heerd ye were comin' for me. It's all right, and I don't blame ye, but it's hard to hev worked all yer life an' raised a family an' then die in the poorhouse. It'll a-most kill Jim when he knows."

The man on the doorstep coughed and turned away, pretending to examine the wisteria vine, that blossomed over the door. Not for worlds would he have told her he was only carrying out Jim's orders against the time he should bring his wife to the old farmhouse.

She came out slowly, looking with vague, wondering eves at all she was leaving; the trees she and Harvey—that was her husband—had planted when they were young, at the bed of cinnamon pinks, and the lilac bushes at the gate. She stopped and gathered some of the fragrant southern-wood—'old man," they called it—and then she looked up at the window of one room—bridehood, wifehood, motherhood, angelhood, that it meant to her. Little Carrie had died there. Harvey had looked hood, that it meant to her. Little Carrie had died there, Harvey had looked his last in the heaven of her eyes there. That was nigh on to forty years ago. Why, where was God this fair summer morning that He had forgotten her, and let her or to the postpouse? let her go to the poorhouse?

"Hurry up, mother," said the man gently; "We're to call for another paup-passenger a bit further down the road. 'Tain't much you're a-leaven'"—with a short laugh. He was trying to make the best of it for her.

with a short laugh. He was trying to make the best of it for her.

He helped her into the wagon, and in the golden light of another day they moved on, jogging along the country road, sweet with the scented life of nature, until they reached the stile that led into the old graveyard where the sentinel stones shone among the trees in their strange dumb whiteness.

'O, ef you don't mind—if I just could say a word to Harvey—it would help me so much, an' I wouldn't be long—I wouldn't keep you waitin.'"

"All right, mother." The overseer jumped out helped her to the ground. "Don't be long; there's a good soul," and he lit his pipe and talked to the driver, apologizing for his weakness.

"Tain't like as if she were a common pauper," he said, "there'are, folks here rain't like as it she were a common pauper," he said, "there are folks here as remember when she was the belle of the county, and they do say it is this son Jim that has run through the property an' is gettin' her out of the way so he won't have to pay for her keep. I wouldn't tell her for a house and lot."

"She wouldn't heliove verif yer did"

"She wouldn't believe yer if yer did," said the driver sententiously, "but she's taking her time in yonder." No. It was not time she was taking, No. It was not time she was taking, but eternity. When the overseer went to look for her she lay with her withered cheek pressed to the moss-grown stone that bore the name of her husband, and a smile that seemed to be a reflected glory from paradise lit up her peaceful face. It had come to her in one brief moment, the assurance that she would not go to the poorhouse, and then—she had gone home.

Physician and Surgeon

DR. HONG SOI,

317 South Broadway, Los Angeles, Cal. DR. HONO SOI has graduated and received his diploma from the medical schools and Universities in Canton, and made his first professional practice for many years in the hospitals of Canton and Hong Kong, China. He is the sixth of a generation of doctors in his family and has made thorough studies of all diseases of the human body. The doctor has had wide experience as a physiciag, and during his leng stay of six years in Los Angeles has made many skillful cures. The doctor cures CONSUMPTION, AHEUMATISM, ASTHMA. CATARRH, SICK HEADACHE, INDIGES.

AND ALL DISEASES that the human body is heir to, by this herb medicine, freshly prepared every day. It would be a benefit to those who are in trouble with sickness to give him a fair trial; his terms are very reasopable. The doctor uses a thousand kinds of medicine which he directly imports from China. Hundreds of voluntary testimonials from patients who have been cured by the doctor can be shown at his office. Please remember the above address and preserved this advertisement.

To Whom it May Concern: I have been sick for nearly two years by suffering with great pains in the back, head, coughing and weakness, and unable to get out from bed for some time. About three weeks ago, having called on Dr. Hong Sot for consultation who pronounced that I was afflicted with kinney disease and lung troubles. He insure me by locating how and where it pains he: and also explained how and when I cough the most, etc. At once I begin to try his medicine, which I found it to be a great help to me. I had taken his medicine for three weeks and now I am well. This is to certify that Dr. Hong Sol has cured me of my sickness, and I am cheerfully recommending hir, to the public. Dated March 3, 1892

To Whom it May Concern: I have been sick with headache, pain in back and shoulders and keen pain in my lungs. I tried two doctors and they said I had the la grippe. Not being attried frame to Dr. Hong Sol. He told ince where there were any pains, and I took a lew doses of his medicine and found it improved me very much, and after taken fifteen doses I find myself strong once more. Yours truly.

doses I find myself strong once more

Los Angeles, March 5, 1822

For three years I was a sufferer with rheumatism and kidney troubles and was unable to walk. I was very much bloated and suffered exeruciating pains. Five doctors have treated me and failed to benefit me. They have given me up as incurable. I was recommended to Dr. Hong Soi for treatment. I am glad I had went to him. He cured me in two weeks time.

SAN FRANCISCO MARKET

SAN FRANCISCO. June 21. [Special to THE TIMES.] The fruit market this morning was quite active and the prices received were fairly remunerative. Apricots and peaches enjoy better demand and the quality of the latter is improving materially. Berries of all kinds are rather neglected and, sithough supplies are moderate, prices are shaded to effect sales. Mexican limes are searce.

limes are searce.

The vegetable market is in good condition and prices are only subjected to slight changes. New potatoes are in good demand and steady at quotations. Red onlons are in heavy supply and weak. Silver skins, however, find ready safe. Rhubarb and asparagus are neglected and weak. The quality of corn is improving and consumption is becoming more general.

and consumption is becoming more general.

The market for dairy produce demonstrated some activity this morning. Butter is in rather large supply and prices are weaker and downward in tendency. Fancy dairy butter is arriving freely and the market is in danger of becoming overstocked. Choice ranch eggs are scarce and firm. Store eggs are neglected and Eastern are taken in preference.

A WASHINGTON LETTER.

One Firm in Buffalo Speuds More Money at the Buffalo Post-office than all the Banks and News-papers combined.

A Washington (D. C.) letter says, that the post-office authorities at Washington report that one firm in Buffalo—the World's Dispensary Medical Association—speuds annually one hundred thousand dears ($100,000) for stamps alone, in carrying on their extensive proprietary business. This is more than all the banks and newspapers of Buffalo combined spend for postage.

Here's a firm which has grown, step by step, through many years to greatness. The roason for this wonderful growth has been that they have faith in what they sale, so much faith that if, they can't benefit or cure, they don't weak your money.

For many years they have been selling Dr.

much faith that if they can't benefit or cure, they don't went your money. For many years they have been selling Dr. Pierce's remedies—one, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, for regulating and invigorating the liver and purifying the blood; the other, Dr. Pierce's Exercite Prescription, the hope of weakly womanhood, and they've been sold for years, bold by the million botters; sold under a positive givernatee of benefiting or curing, or your money will be refunded.

Bees and Honey.

[American Bee Journal.]

Third grade—All honey enumerated not in first and second grades not to be crated, but sold to private consumers.

For shipping crates the twenty-fourpound, two tier, is adopted as the best, both for the producer and dealer.

When new hives are made for the expected swarms of the coming season have care that they are not stored where they will absorb any odors that are obnoxious to the bees. Often a swarm refuses to remain in a bive because it has been tainted with something that stood near it. Old hives should be thoroughly cleansed before using for young swarms, and for this purpose there is no better process than scraping old wax and washing with a solution of soda, then giving an airing to remove all smell of the potash.

An unfertile queen can lay eggs, as also can the worker bees, and their eggs will produce drones, but never worker bees.

213 CROP OF WILD HONEY.

BIG CROP OF WILD HONEY.

[Anaheim Gazette.]

The largest quanity of honey any ene in this famous honey-making region remembers to have taken from one spot and at one time is reported by a Spanish ranchman who lives several miles southwest of Spadra. For several years he has seen bees at work in the top of an old oak tree on his ranch, but, not wishing to injure the tree, he delayed getting the honey until a few days ago. A party of four men then went at it, and were busy all day in taking away the honey. They got the immense quantity of 748 pounds of comb honey. The stock of sweetness had evidently been stored in the tree little by little for over fifteen years.

No honey this year. [Anaheim Gazette.]

NO BONNT THIS TEAR.
[Ventura Free Press.]
From M. H. Mendelsohn, the bee man who was in town today, it is learned that the honey yield this season will be very light. Where he had ten tons last year he will not have any this, and the crop will be almost a failure. He thinks the entire yield will not exceed ter tons. The bees will be in good condi-tion for winter, however. Lack of suf-ficient rains is the cause of the short-

> POULTRY. Turkey Nests.

One of the best nests for turkeys is barrel with both heads knocked out Dig enough of the ground away so the side of the barrel will set about six inches deep in the soil. Throw the removed soil in the barrel, forming a nest in the center, and then cover the barrel with loose brush, leaving an approach so the hen may gain access to the barrel from either end. A liberal supply of dry leaves scattered over the bottom of the barrel delights the hen turkey, for she can use them in covering her eggs.

Turkey nests made in this way may be rendered storm-proof by using short pieces of boards put tip slanting from the top ends of the barrel to keep out storms and winds. It is well to let the turkeys find these nests in their wander ings, and then they will lay and hatch their broods there with great success.

OVERFEEDING LAYING HEXS. [Farm and Fireside.]

Bear in mind that if you attempt to fatten some of the hens for market you must remove those intended to be retained as layers, or the laying hens will become so fat that they will become become so fat that they will become useless. More loss occurs from over-feeding than from insufficient food, and the result is due to a failure to recognize the fact that a laying hen requires different food from one intended for market. market.

CONVENIENT DUST-BATHS.

[Farm and Fireside.]
The best dust-bath is a place on the ground that has been spaded and the stones and gravel sifted out. After each rain (which solidifies them) the dusting places should be spaded again, so as to keep them fine, dry and loose. The hens will take advantage of them, and enjoy them very much.
